EDITORIAL BRIEFS.

REPUBLICANS of Centre county, leave no stone unturned to get out the full vote on election day.

GRANT is for Blaine. The Camerons are for Blaine. Edmunds is for Blaine. So is Senator Conkling and the eloquent Ingersoll.

"SMALLEST favors thankfully received," and the news that steel rails have advanced one dollar per ton is a "straw" anyhow.

A FEW more speeches like the one made by Hon. J. A. Barker, of Ebensburg, will drive all Republicans out of the Prohibition party.

G. CLEVELAND wears a 26-inch collar. What an expanse of hemp had he unwittingly hanged himself instead of one of the capital criminals during his shrievalty.

JUDGE GRESHAM, the postmaster general, has been appointed Secretary of the Treasury to succeed the late Secretary Folger. It is regarded as an excellent appointment.

IT IS scarcely necessary to note that if the Democratic Convention were to be held now it would steer very clear of considering ex-Sheriff Cleveland in the light of a Presidential nominee.

THE tariff will be the question which will attract the most attention during the canvass in Connecticut. The Republicans are ready to meet their opponents, but the Democrats hesitate about commencing a debate.

THE New York World wants to know whether it is "treason or idiocy" that prompts Democratic journals to persist in "speaking of Governor Cleveland as a Free Trader." It is neither. It is simply the commonest kind of sense.

IF Love and Allison are sent to Harrisburg to represent Centre county in the State Legislature, the interests of this section will be carefully attended to and the legislature will be strengthened by two able and honest members.

IT is said that lightning never strikes twice in the same spot. The Democratic party overlooked this circumstance in choosing a Presidential candidate. Lightning struck Grover Cleveland in 1882. The weather indications are that it will never strike him again.

MODERATION in all things is commendable and should be particularly observed in the heat of a political campaign when speakers and writers are too apt to indulge in an extravagance of language that second thought would warn them to avoid. The utterance of sentiments which call later for retraction and apology is someting to keep clear of at all times.

Doings in Philadelphia—Association for the Advancement of Science—State Fair—Electrical Exhibition—the Reynolds' Statue—Blaine's Reception—Amusements, etc..

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 24th, 1884.

This great city is now,and has been for some weeks, all ablaze—not only illuminated by the electric lights of the exhibition, and on the streets, but having here the most brilliant lights of mind in the world of science and culture,from nearly all the civilized countries of the earth. This Electrical Exhibition begins a new epoch in the United States, for the advancement of Science, and for the practical adaptation of its principles and discoveries to the industrial arts and interests of the country.

As an appropriate adjunct to this exhibition, in the first week of its opening, a meeting of the American Association for the advancement of Science was held in this city, continuing in session from the 3d to the 11th inst. This Association was organized in Philadelphia thirty-two years ago, and has since met in nearly all the important cities of the United States. At the time of its formation its service to the world was but little more than a prophecy, but every year has increased its scope of investigation, discussion, and utility. This last gathering was, in many respects, the most remarkable meeting the Association has ever held. Nearly 1,300 names were registered. Over 300 papers, in all departments of science, were read, and many of them discussed.

Beside being the greatest assemblage of American scientists there were present about 300 visitors from Europe and Asia. Most of these were from the British Association,but nearly every notable learned Society of Europe was represented by delegates, and two Asiatic societies, and the university of Japan sent their representatives.

The citizens of Philadelphia,through committees of entertainment, and by private proffers, gave the Association the most magnificient hospitality

The meeting of the A. A. A. S., with the British Association, and foreign delegates, together with the International Exhibition, the session of the American Institute of Mining Engineers, the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, the Agassiz Association, and Association of Collegiate Alumnae, all at the same time in the same city, is an unparalleled event in the world of science and learning.

We think, after this, Philadelphia may reasonably dispute the "Hub of the Universe" question with Boston. Printer's ink is generally equal to any emergency, or demand, but when it comes to the giving of a full description of the Electrical Exhibition, we think it is altogether too black for the subject. The building erected for the purpose covers almost an entire square, besides the use of a large portion of the old P. R. R. depot, 32d and Market street, and yet the space is too narrow and cramped for the exhibits made. Hundreds of electric lights with the intensity of sunlight brightness, astonish and dazzle the gaze of thousands of visitors every night. If you can imagine the holding of flashes of lightning in a dark sky for hours in unabated brilliancy you can then form some idea of the splender of the Electrical Exhibition.

As a matter of practical benefit to the world of Science and the Industrial Arts the results of the International display must be beyond calculation. Since the kite of Franklin first touched the clouds wonderful progress has been made in compelling this mysterious force, as other elements of nature have been subdued, into subserviency to the will of man.

The most interesting and useful Agricultural State Fair, that has been held for years, closed its session in this city on the 20th. A new departure has been made by the State Agricultural Society and a permanent place for the annual Fair fixed upon, and suitable buildings erected. The location of the grounds is adjoining the Germantown Junction, about three miles north from the centre of the city. The exhibits this year were more diversified than in former seasons, and aggregated a more valuable and handsome display. Nearly all the counties of the State were represented in some special interests, and awards and prizes were granted to hundreds of exhibitors. Our great seed store firm of Landreth & Son's, the great century seed house of this country, received over one hundred prizes on the displays made by them. The farmers of Centre county must look to it that they shall be better represented at the next year's Fair, and the State College should certainly send down some of the superior products of its model farms.

On last Thursday afternoon the grand equestrian statue of Major Gen. John F. Reynolds, was unveiled and presented to the city. It is placed at the north entrance to the public buildings. The memorial is in bronze and is a magnificent work of art. General Reynolds fell on the first day of the most memorable battle of the war—Gettysburg. The ceremonies attending the unveiling of this statue were of the most imposing character, participated in by Gov. Pattison and other eminent officials, and noted citizens, presided over with his usual dignity and grace by the great War Governor, Hon. A. G. Curtin.

The most imposing political demonstration that ever occurred in this city was made last night. It was the whole city's voluntary honor to the great statesman, and to the next President, Hon. Jas. G. Blaine. Over twenty thousand men marched in the torch light procession and undoubtedly four hundred thousand citizens along the line of march witnessed and cheered the grand parade. Such an ovation, gotten up without any preliminary effort, shows what a hold Mr. Blaine has upon the popular heart. His appearance in Ohio, and other western states, will be greeted by the same spontaneous enthusiasm. The "Plumed Knight" is indeed on his march to the White House.

As our summer seaside and mountain resort wanderers have returned to take up their lines of social and business life the city is fast assuming the gaieties and bright aspect usual to its fall and winter season. The business outlook is as good as can be expected in a Presidential election campaign. Any way, there should be no complaint of hard times, if we are to judge by the amusements in vogue. Several new and large places of amusement have been opened this fall—three Dime Museums are in full operation now, and the old theatres have been refitted and beautifully ornamented. Mr. J. H. Haverly, one of the most enterprising managers in the United States, retains his Broad Street Theatre and has reconstructed it throughout, and it is now one of the most attractive places of entertainment in the city.

The citizens of Bellefonte and Centre county who propose visiting Philadelphia this season should come just now, while there is so much of unusual interest to be seen here. You will notice that your county has been recognized and honored by ex-Governor Curtin being called upon to preside at the unveiling of the Reynolds statue, and Prof. I. Thornton Osmond of State College, being appointed on several committees.

In subsequent letter I propose to present your readers with a description of our new Public Buildings.

HIRAM TORREY.

THE New York World, with a solicitude for the Republican party and its candidate that is as touching as is unnecessary, asserts that Mr. Blaine is in the last stages of a mortal sickness, and is certain to die soon, probably before he can take his seat as President. We beseech the World not to fret. Mr. Blaine may not resemble the Scriptural stalled ox as markedly as does Mr. Cleveland, but he well enough to worry through eight years as President, and the Republicans are going to try him a whack, anyhow.

KEELEY'S new invention can be run by six drops of water and a pint of air. It takes a great deal more wind than that to run a Democrat campaign, but that amount of water is amply sufficient.

The Canvass in the West.

One of the methods pursued by the Democrats to conceal their weakness in this campaign has been to claim strong Republican states as doubtful, or as sure to go Democratic. In furtherance of this plan they have asserted that their chances were the better in that central group of states which comprises Michigan, Wisconsin, Indiana, Illinois and Iowa. They have had a double purpose to serve in making this claim. It was hoped by a steady beating of tom-toms to create a false impression of Democratic strength and so prevent the secession of a class of voters which could not be well spared. But the main purpose reached beyond the present campaign and included the laying of a foundation for future party work in the West, where the Democrats believe they must look for accessions with which to offset the inevitable losses that confront them in the South.

As a partial basis for the claim that any of the states mentioned would give their electoral votes to the Democrats, it has been asserted that the German press were deserting the Republican party in a body and allying themselves with the Democrats. This statement has been persistently repeated by Democratic papers for three months, but no careful and impartial observer of events has been able to discover any just ground for the claim. The visit of that apostle of bolting, Carl Schurz, has not changed the situation appreciably in any state in which he spoke. He came, he ventilated his private malice, and he left town by the next train. His meetings were large, but the meetings of Republican Germans which followed his exit were as well attended and as enthusiastic as any held in previous campaigns. The German Republican press, with two or three exceptions only, has stood faithfully by the Republican party also, and helped to show the fallacy of the claim that this class of voters were not intelligent enough to direct their own political course.

Prohibitionism has been the other excuse for the Democratic claim of these great central states of the North. In two of them, Illinois and Iowa, this question has been settled for some years to come, and it will not, probably, cause any weakness to the Republicans in the present campaign. In Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin, whatever has been done toward regulating the liquor traffic has been the fruit of Republican legislation. Many of the most pronounced advocates of temperance have shown their sagacity by refusing to countenance any distinctively temperance movement this year. They see a suspicious zeal on the part of the Democrats to encourage the extreme Prohibitionist into political activity in this canvass, and they rightly conclude that nothing but harm can come to the cause by walking into the trap set by their inveterate enemy.

While making preposterous claims of Republican losses in Western states, the Democrats have preserved a profound silence respecting the revolt of Irish-American voters. And yet this is the best attested political change observable in that section. It is so open and marked that no estimate of the strength of parties there can be made without taking it into consideration. The bolt of Congressman Finerty is one only proof of this change. The Democrats can point to no man who will carry with him such a large class of voters as this Chicago member of Congress. Taking all the conditions into consideration—the dimensions of the Irish-American revolt, the vigorous canvass the Republicans are making, and the little reason there is to anticipate any appreciable loss through German and Prohibition disaffection—it appears safe to anticipate an increased Republican vote in the states of the West.—Phil'a Press.

THE Greenback State Convention met in Bellefonte yesterday.

WHILE it is perhaps beyond human ability to call attention to all the misstatements made in our Democratic exchanges, for the reason that almost their entire stock in trade consists in misrepresentation, we feel obliged occasionally to point out inconsistencies in their statements. On Thursday, Sept. 25, the Centre Democrat copied an article entitled "A Moral Coward," from the Doylestown Democrat. The following sentence of that article perhaps contains the most glaring misstatement: "He [Blaine] took what he considered the safer course, refused to vote at all, although in doing it he violated his pledge and cheated his friends." The sentence refers to Blaine's refusal to vote on the Prohibition question in Maine. But he violated no pledge in thus refusing, and neither the Centre Democrat nor Doylestown Democrat can produce any words of Blaine's wherein he promised to vote either affirmatively or negatively on the question. Neal Dow, who is quoted as authority pro and con on this question, has explicitly stated, since the election, that Blaine never made any such promises to him. Every just man, whether a Prohibitionist or a whisky seller, will acknowledge that while the question in Maine was a local one, a vote from Blaine would at once elevate it to National importance and introduce an entirely foreign question into the canvass. Hence it was not only brave but also conservative and wise for Blaine to permit those whose ballots are not watched and criticised by the Nation to act as the arbiters on this disputed question.

WE like to see manufacturers regulate such reductions of wages as they are obliged to make by the principles which govern the Brooks Iron company of Birdsboro. Not being compelled to reduce the wages of all its employes, it excepts the laborers, who were already paid the least. This shows at once proper feeling and sound discretion.

THE Democrats have been seducously sowing broadcast the seeds of calumny and slander and an abundant crop of noxious and vicious roorbacks is the result, but the blazing sun of popular scorn is burning and withering these political weeds and the hurricane of November will be sweep them away like the chaff.

HANNIBAL HAMLIN, of Maine, is expounding sound Republican doctrine to the hardy yoemanry of Ohio, and the weather out there is so cold that the Democrats are more puzzled than ever to know why he never wears an overcoat. In the Republican camp, however, the temperature is quite comfortable.

BEFORE an election, if the Democratic papers are to be believed, the "Republican managers have an uphill road after cash," after the election, and a Republican victory, Democratic editors become frantic crying about the "Republican debauchery of Democratic voters." Anything to suit the occasion.

THE Free Trade Club, of London, makes the following significant announcement: "Let it be understood, once for all, that the salvation of Englan depends upon the destruction of American manufacturies and that the only way in which American manufactures can be destroyed is by free trade."

"No contribution will be accounted too small," says the begging circular of the National Democratic Committee. "Which lets me in," says William H. English, tossing a nickel into the hat with the reckless indifference of a man to whom salary is not so much an object as steady employment.

ARE you naturalized? If no become naturalized at once and help the American workman to escape the encroachments of foreign free trade.

THERE'S DANGER.

Write it on the liquor store,
Write it on the prison door,
Write it on the gin shop fine,
Write—aye, write this truthful line:
"Where there's drink, there's danger."

Write it on the work house gate,
Write it on the school boy's slate,
Write it in the copy book,
That the young may on it look:
Where there's drink there's danger."

Write it on the church yard mound,
Where the drink-slain dead are found;
Write it on the gallows high,
Write it for all passers by:
Where there's drink there's danger."

Write it underneath your feet,
Up and down the busy street;
Write it for the great and small,
In the mansion, cot and hall;
"Where there's drink there's danger."

Write it on the ships which sail,
Borne along by storm and gale;
Write it in large letters plain,
O'er our land and past the main:
"Where there's drink there's danger."

THE COACHMAN'S PET.

A maiden fair I chanced to see
Behind a pair of spanking horses;
Her eyes bid fair to set me wild,
With looks as soft as woodland mosses.
And prone was I to lift my hat
When on the avenue I spied her,
But well I knew I dare not bow—
Alas! the coachman was beside her.

I met her on her way to church,
As down the street I walked with leisure;
And glanced at her with loving eye—
Her quick response seemed fraught with pleasure.
She looked as though she'd like to speak—
But that I knew must be denied her,
For when I glanced again I saw
That horrid coachman still beside her.

I met her time and time again,
And every time seemed more enraptured;
It really seemed as though my heart
By this fair maid was captured,
Until one day a friend who knew
The lady and her faithful driver,
Said she'd been married eighteen years,
And 'twas her husband there beside her.

Our Story Teller.

Wallace all Wrong.

To the Editor of The Press.

SIR: Senator William A. Wallace is a too well-informed and influential Democratic leader to be permitted to make such glaring and dangerous misstatements of facts as were made by him in his Harper's Ferry speech on Friday last, without public attention being called to them.

Mr. Wallace is represented as portraying in eloquent and truthful language the existing depression in the mining and manufacturing industries of the country, and, with the cunning unworthy a statesman, he endeavors to make the working men, who feel the pinch of hard times, attribute it to the misgovernment of the party in power. Senator Wallace charged "our present business distress, the glut of production, the glut of labor and the misery and distress of the miner, the artisan and the agriculturist, and the sweeping of our commerce from the seas, to the Republican party."

Further along in his speech Senator Wallace says; "We favor reduction of taxation and a revision of the tariff, in the interests of the whole people. We do not now, we never have, either meant or advocated absolute Free Trade. Our platform is a distinct enunciation of our thought. It speaks with no uncertain sound,"

A FREE TRADE PARTY.

That the public may see that Senator Wallace is in error in regard to the declaration respecting Free Trade, I quote from the Cincinnati platform of June 2, 1856, which convention nominated James Buchanan for the presidency:

"1. Resolved, That there are questions connected with the foreign policy of this country which are inferior to no domestic question whatever. The time has come for the people of the United States to declare themselves in favor of free seas and progressive Free Trade throughout the world, and, by solemn manifestations, to place their moral influence at the side of their successful example."

Falsus in uno, falsus in omnibus (false in one, false in all), is a favorite quotation of lawyers' generally, and of Senator Wallace particularly, and, as the Senator is announced to speak in this city on Wednesday, I bring this to his attention, in order that he may correct that misstatement.

As a matter of fact the Democratic party not only declared for Free Trade by its highest authority—a national convention—but, the day before President Buchanan took the oath of office, President Pierce, also a Democrat, signed a tariff act, passed in conformity with the demands of the Democratic Convention a few months previous. That act approved by President Pierce March 3, 1857, made a most sweeping reduction in the rates of duty on imported goods; not a single article upon which a duty was imposed but underwent such a radical reduction of duty that the country was flooded with the products of European cheap labor, in consequence of which our furnace fires were blown out, the doors of our mills and workshops closed, our farmers without a market for their products, and within six months from the day that "progressive Free-trade act" was signed the financial panic of 1857 overwhelmed us.

If Senator Wallace will examine the official record he will find that at the beginning of the late war for the purpose of establishing a Southern Confederacy, by destroying the American Union, American vessels carried 63.5 per cent. of our total imports and exports, and that at the close of that war, in 1865, American vessels carried only 27.7 per cent of our imports and exports. Rebel privateers built in England, commissioned by Jeff Davis' Confederacy, and manned by Democrats exclusively, captured and destroyed on the high seas, and caused to be transferred to foreign flags, in order to escape destruction, 879,259 tons of our merchant marine. Surely, upon mature reflection, Senator Wallace will declare at the Wednesday night meeting that he was in error in charging our loss in ocean commerce to the policy of the Republican party. Not a single Republican was ever on board of one of the these rebel privateers, engaged in destroying American vessels, except as one of its captors.

Assuredly to Jefferson Davis and the policy of the Democratic party of the South, and not to the Republican party, are we to attribute this loss of 879,257 tons of American vessels, and this fact ought also, in justice to all concerned, be mentioned by Senator Wallace.

"We have lost our foreign trade for manufactured articles, and the sea is the limit to our markets," said Mr. Wallace at the Harper's Ferry meeting. The records of the Treasury Department show that under the policy of the Republican party we exported to foreign countries for the ten years ending June 30, 1883, a total of $6,959,888,512, of American merchandise; and imported during the same period, $5,653,345,263 of foreign goods, showing an excess of exports over imports for the ten years of $1,306,543,249.

During the ten years ending June 30, 1861, under "Democratic progressive Free Trade," we exported $2,519,428,974 and imported during the same period a total of $2,923,108,718 of foreign manufactures—an excess of imports over exports of $403,679,744. It seems to me that if these public records of the Government are correct—and I have never heard of their correctness being questioned—Senator Wallace is clearly wrong in his assertion that "the sea is the limit to our markets."

A glance at these statistics ought to disclose to my good friend, Senator Wallace, that under our present very moderate system of protection, our exports exceeded our imports $130,000,000 a year upon the average, and that under "progressive Free Trade," our imports exceeded our exports $40,000,000 a year, and that by repealing the "progressive Free-trade act" of March 3, 1857, we seem to have been the gainers to the extent of $170,000,000 a year; that our annual average exportations were $696,000,000 under a Republican policy and only $252,000,000 a year under progressive Free Trade.

THE TRUE CAUSE OF LOW WAGES.

Senator Wallace attributes the distress in business and the low wages paid to working-men to the policy of the Republican party "in making large grants of public lands to railroad corporations and high taxation to maintain an enormous surplus of money in the Federal Treasury." In this the Senator is again in error, and if he will kindly permit I will explain that our present business depression is due mainly to two causes:

First. The miserable system which prevails in Free-Trade countries, and which has driven 8,123,806 immigrants to this country—since Mr. Lincoln's election—in order to escape the miseries of life in such countries where a Free Trade policy brings them to the verge of starvation.

Second. The policy of the Democratic party in cutting down tariff duties so low as to open wide the gates for the admission of foreign goods that come in competition with American labor.

During the twenty-four years since Mr. Lincoln's election, not 1,000 American mechanics have gone to Free-trade countries in Europe for the purpose of making such countries their home, while upon the other hand the untold struggles for existence in those countries and the superior advantages and blessings of a land over which the Republican policy of protection prevails have during the past twenty-four years, brought into the United States 23,000 bakers, 37,000 blacksmiths, 11,000 brewers, 22,500 butchers, 11,000 cabinet-makers, 45,000 carpenters, 30,000 iron workers, 58,000 bricklayers and masons, 93,000 miners, 19,000 painters, 5,000 plasters, 5,000 plumbers, 6500 printers, 43,000 shoemakers, 41,000 tailors, 31,000 spinners and weavers, 16,500 cigar makers and 110,000 all other kinds of tradesmen; 1,900,000 laborers, 140,000 merchants, 4000 physicians, 7000 teachers, 8000 clergymen, 12,000 musicians and 700,000 farmers.

The "glut of labor" is partially due to the terrible poverty and distress prevailing in Free-trade countries, and which drove this enormous army of people to this country to seek employment.

The "glut of production," complained of by Senator Wallace is due, not to the course attributed by him, but to the policy of the Democratic party in ever seeking to establish the policy of "progressive Free-trade" in this country. This Democratic policy of cutting down tariff duties to prevent a surplus in the Treasury, permits $725,000,000 worth of foreign goods annually to come into this country; of these, tea and coffee, and a few other items amounting to $100,000,000 a year, do not come in competition with American manufacturers, but if the balance was produced in this country it would give steady employment at high wages, to 313,000 working men and women.

Some idea of the enormous aggregate of the importance of the products of foreign pauper paid labor which come here during a single year, to "glut our markets," may be gathered from these official statistics; 1,881,000 gallons of beer, porter and ale; $570,666 worth of brass manufactures; $4,061,293 worth of buttons, almost equal to the entire annual production ($4,449,542) in the United States; chemicals, drugs and dyes, $16,134,203; clocks, watches, etc., $2,960,908; coal, 722,560 tons; corsets, 79,277 dozen; cotton goods, $32,359,343; earthen, stone and china ware, $8,693,272—in excess of the entire annual production in the United States, which the census shows was $7,942,729; fancy articles, $7,908,102; flax and manufactures, $23,088,891; common window glass, 54,941,428 pounds, and 8,185,015 square feet of plate, polished, and silvered glass; hats and bonnets, $802,397; hemp, and manufactures of, $12,615,393; pig iron, 971,267,486 pounds; bar iron, 116,869,746 pounds; steel rails, 252,753,957 pounds; and 53,021,871 pounds of all other kinds of iron, and including castings, the total; value of which was $40,837,376; leather, and manufactures of, $12,653,722; paints and painters, colors, 16,003,101 pounds; paper and manufactures of, $1,864,549; potatoes, 2,356,965 bushels, breadstuffs and farinaceous food; $12,667,786; butter 1,156,027 pounds cheese, 5,984,836 pounds; salt, 867,915,573 pounds; silk, and manufactures of, $33,307,112; soap, 3,313,429 pounds; spices, mustard, etc., 11,683,569 pounds; wines, $12,586,869; sugar and molasses, $91,406,718; tin, and manufactures of, $16,787,322; tobacco leaf, 13,811,140 pounds; cigars and cigarettes, 787,393 pounds.

JOHN W. FRAZIER.

The following, from the New York Tribune, shows high standard in the moral sentiment of one of the foremost political journals of the day. "The saloon is an institution which makes the poor poorer continually. If only half the annual expenditures of the wage-earning classes upon drink were saved, the elevation of those classes would proceed by leaps and bounds. The saloon, however, is ever lying in wait for the weak or the social wage earner. In this great city, on any of the main avenues, he cannot walk a block without passing a manufactory of misery. At every turn the purveyor of drink entices him, gets between him and his family, between him and his manhood, between him and his happiness. The pervading influence of rum pursues the slaves of appetite unceasingly, and makes their lives a constant struggle or a succession of disastrous falls. This subtle, prevalent influence is the bitterest curse that rests upon modern civilization if it is not itself destroyed. For the discontent, the anarchic tendencies, the seditious doctrines, the dangerous dispositions that are manifesting in centres of population, together with the vices of administration which alarm the thoughtful, and the difficulties in the way of reform which are due to the intractability of the material dealt with—all have their spring and origin in the habit of drinking, that potent drink influence, which baffles the enthusiasm of the reformer and laughs to scorn the appeals of religion, of reason, of self respect. The evil influence is degrading and brutalizing society, and progress will be slow and unsatisfactory until a public opinion is formed which refuses to palter with the abuse any longer."

A Hard up Monarch.

New York Commercial-Advertiser.

King Louis II., the music mad monarch, is in sore financial straits Owing to his extravagances in building palaces and opera houses and the curtailment of the civil list, he has been compelled to discharge all the architects, landscape gardeners, and all the workmen engaged in creating the "Alpine Versailles," and he was much grieved at having to abandon his dream of reproducing gilded luxury of the third empire among the Bavarian Alps. But the contractors are still clamoring for the payment of their arrears, and the royal spendthrift has been forced to seek the costly aid of the money lenders. It is now stated that he just effected a loan from four Bavarian banks of 8,500,000 marks ($1,923,000) returnable in eighteen years. The condition of the royal credit may be imagined from the statement that the syndicate demands as interest the enormous rate of 12 per cent. per annum.

John Greater than Daniel.

"Pa," said a Boston urchin of eight, "couldn't Daniel Webster knock out Sullivan in three rounds?

The Boston father did not look surprised, as perhaps a New York father would, but said:

"Not much, my lad."

"Was Dan an n. g. slugger, pa?"

"Daniel Webster wasn't a slugger at all, my boy. What are you talking about?"

"He wasn't a slugger? What did that man you were talking with call him the great expounded for, then?"

At Home and Abroad.

From the Philadelphia Press.

The nationality of the New England mill girl has materially changed during the last generation. The pure New England stock has almost disappeared, and Canadians, Irish, and latterly Swedish girls have taken their place. The girls who read Milton, Carlyle and Macaulay, who studied pages of Locke on the Understanding at the looms, who refreshed themselves evenings with Bryant's verses, and the earlier songs of Longfellow, Holmes, and Whittier, and who are familiar with Burns, and Cowper, and Scott, and Wordsworth, have given way to "foreigners with paralyzing caste ideas crushed into them." The mill girls who edited the Lowell Offering, who attended Emerson's lectures and who studied modern languages during leisure moments in the mill, were undoubtedly a superior class of girls. Still their lot, so far as wages and hours of work are concerned, was not as good as that of the mill girl of to-day.

Harriet Martineau wrote of the girls as she saw them over thirty years ago.

"Twice the wages and half the toil would not have made the girls I saw happy and healthy, without that cultivation of mind which afforded them perpetual support, entertainment and motive for activity. Their minds were so open to fresh ideas as to be drawn off from thoughts of themselves and their own concerns."

Dickens, in 1842, contrasted the life of these girls with those in the great manufacturing towns of England. It was a contrast, he said, "between the good and evil, the living light and deepest shadow." To the latter he alludes as "those great haunts of desperate misery," which the British nation ought to "purge of the suffering and danger." It also will be remembered that Dickens mentioned three things about the mill girls of Lowell which struck him with amazement: That some of them had pianos in their boarding-houses, that they subscribed to circulating libraries and that they published a magazine among themselves, filled with original articles.

In the manufacturing towns of New England, though the nationality of the girls has undergone several changes, Dickens' description is substantilly true to-day. On the other hand these great "haunts of desperate misery" have not disappeared from England. Travel through the mill quarters of Glasgow, inspect the Scouring-burn of Dundee, walk through the manufacturing quarters of Manchester, and you will find misery as deep seated and terrible as in the days of Charles Dickens.

Carroll D. Wright, in his last report, has shown us that the Boston girls engaged in manufacture earn on an average the year round $5,22 per week. The average earnings of women in England in manufacture would not reach half this amount. In the nail district we find it takes two women all the week to earn $2.50, or half the average weekly earnings the year round of one Boston girl. In the brick fields one woman can only earn $2 a week; in the cotton mills of Manchester their average weekly earnings for a year could not possibly exceed $3 and perhaps not over $2.50. Recent accounts of the wretched homes of these people, whose income rarely exceeds sixty-two and one half cents a day, published in the London quarterlies and illustrated pamphlets, have awakened all England to the impoverishing effect of Free Trade on their home industries.

On the other hand, we learn that a large number of these New England girls, whose average weekly earnings for the year are greater than the highest sum ever earned in manufacturing in the same time by a woman in England, live in comfortable homes with parents in comparatively easy circumstances. That they spend their earnings as they please, chiefly on dress. Many are graduates from the high school. Other well-dressed girls, who live at home, turn their earnings into the common family fund. Careful investigation shows that there are but few who are away from home influence, and that those who are have comfortable homes in the country, to which they could return when sick or out of work.

The mill girl of New England works more hours than the British operative. But the New England mill girls of thirty years ago, according to Lucy Larcom who was one of them, worked longer than the mill girls of to-day. Work began at 5 o'clock on summer mornings and at day light in Winter. The only hours of leisure were from 7.30 to 10 P. M. During those hours they made and mended their own clothing, often doing a good deal of fancy work. They read periodicals, took books from the library, went to singing schools, conferences, meetings, concerts and lecures, and on Sundays they were at church. While the burden of the present generation of work girls may be still further lightened in many ways, it must be remembered that the mill girls of to-day in the United States have the same opportunities and even more advantages than those of forty years ago. As Carroll D. Wright sayes: "They are making an heroic struggle against many obstacles, and ought to be respected." When compared, however, with the poor drudges in the factories of Great Britian and continental Europe the New England mill girl is entitled to our congratulation rather than our sympathy.

Sunshine and Shadow.

Chicago News.

"The officer tells me that you were drunk and disorderly and that you have often been arrested for the same offense," said Justice Foote yesterday as he frowned through his eye-glasses at a hard looking wooman who stood before him. "I have no sympathy for women like you and I will fine you a hun——"

"Papa!" interupted a little voice, clear and sweet, and two soft arms stole around the judicial neck and a soft face was laid against the judicial cheek.

Justice Foote's frown changed to a smile. "Aha, you rascal!" said he, seizing his little daughter and seating her on his knee. "So you came to see me just when I am hard at work, did you, and you slipped up behind me and tried to scare your old pap? Ah, you!" and he gave her a great hug.

Clerk Clingen poised his pen, ready to record the fine; the lawyers took their seats with a smile, the prisoner was left alone before the bar. She looked at the little child and passed her sleeve over her eyes. For five minutes the old head and the young head nodded at each other, while from two red lips came a wonderful story of 'Oh such fun at the park! and how funny the deers looked!" Then a bright ten cent peice was produced from the Justice's pocket and put into a little hand. Then came a long, hard hug! and little girl skipped away, shouting good-by as she went through the crowd.

When Justice Foote turned his face toward the court room there was spread over it a smile that would have graced the countenance of a saint. "Where was I?" he asked, as he rubbed his glasses and looked down at the sheet. "Oh, yes, this drunk and disorderly case." Then he looked at the prisoner. "You look like you might have been a decent girl once," said he; "I will give you one more chance. The prisoner is discharged."

The Premier's Wife.

Of Mrs. Gladstone the Dunfries (Scotland) Standard says: "The premier's wife is extremely popular at Dalmeny, her homely, affable ways and her industrious habits having fairly won the admiration of all the residenters and members of the household. Mrs. Gladstone, though now an old lady—much older than she looks—accomplishes an enormous amount of work. She is even more methodical and active than her talented husband. One of the virtues she practises is that of early rising, and the early hours of the morning from six o'clock until breakfast—she occupies in correspondence or in needlework. And with all this activity there is no fuss. Mrs. Gladstone gives trouble to nobody, but is always helpful, and is consequently everybody's favorite."

"Dear, dear; where have you been, girls?" said a Boston mother to her daughters who returned late from an entertainment.

Two Duchesses of Wellington.

From the New York Sun.

The Duchess of Wellington, who been recently widowed, will now be known as Elizabeth, Duchess of Wellington. She was at the time of her marriage the most beautiful woman in England, and her likeness appeared in all the "books of beauty" which immortalized the belles of that day, as the photographer's art does now. Her father-in-law, the old Iron Duke, who had always a keen eye and a warm liking for a pretty woman, was both fond and proud of her, and she was constantly to be seen at his side in the Park and in the Row, and on his arm at all fashionable gatherings. The new Duchess of Wellington is lame, and has none of the personal beauty for which her predecessor was remarkable.

The husband of the celebrated Madame Geoffrin was fond of reading, and often had recourse to an obliging friend, possessor of a well stocked library. Wishing to persue a certain book of travels, he borrowed the first volume, and having finished it, took it back to the owner and asked for the second, which, in a fit of abstraction, he left on the table carrying away the one he had just returned, and reading it over again without perceiving his error. His wife, seeing him deeply absorbed in the contents, inquired how he liked the work. "It is extremely interesting," he replied, "but it strikes me that the author is rather too apt to repeat himself."

OUR esteemed British cotemporary the New York Times, not long since published the following extract from one of the daily newspapers of Fiorence, Italy:

The workpeople of the hemp factory at Cavalecchio (a place near Bologna) have struck work; instead of fifteen cents a day for fourteen hours labor they demand eighteen cents a day and a reduction of time to twelve hours. Owing to the intervention of the police, they returned to their work, their employers having given them the hope of increasing their wages from fifteen to sixteen cents per day.

The Times is one of the leading advocates of a policy that, carried to its extreme length, would bring American labor directly into competition with just this sort of labor. The article from the Times concludes as follows:

That the mere hope of obtaining one cent more a day for fourteen hours of dreary, monotonous, brain-stagnating toil was sufficient to bring back these poor people to their work, is, indeed, a lamentable showing. Their sole choice was either quick starvation or one cent's difference, if they get it, in the slow starvation and pitiless diseases wrought in their dismal homes by wages which, at the present prices of food in Italy, are a sheer mockery of existence.

American workmen! They tell you that these stories of pauper labor in Europe are exaggerated to keep you from voting for Free Trade. Do not believe them—the half of the dreadful sufferings of these industrial populations has never been told by any American writer.—Philadelphia Press.

—The High Sheriff of Centre county, Mr. Thomas J. Dunkle, was married on Monday, September 22d. The happy affair occurred in Williamsport at the Hepburn House and the lady who became Mrs. Dunkle was Miss Lizzie Fortney, of Tusseyville, this county. The officiating clergyman was Rev. W. E. Fischer, of Centre Hall, Pa. This is the solution of Mr. Miles Walker's presence in Williamsport. He went there to witness the ceremony. The Sheriff is a most worthy and excellent gentleman well calculated to make any lady happy. He and his estimable bride have our hearty congratulation and best wishes.

—The Philadelphia Press makes the number of men in the parade in that city 20,000; the Times makes it 25,000; other papers make it 30,000, while Malin and Mullen declare that it was nearer 50,000. When doctors disagree in such a matter it is safe to say that the number was so great as to be almost countless.

Oranges and Florida.

Better than Breezes and Blossoms—Under a New Flag.

Even the balmy air and orange blossoms of Florida fail to keep its inhabitants full of happiness and comfort. Art must help nature everywhere—in the tropics as well as among the the pines of the North. "And, chief among the blessings which are adapted to all zones," writes Dr J. G. Wallace, of Fort Dade, Fla., "is PARKER'S TONIC. It seems to have the world for a field, and most of the current diseases yield to its action. I have used it in the case of a delicate and dyspeptic young lady with the most gratifying results. It seemed to accomplish with ease what the usual prescriptions and treatment for that miserable malady failed wholly to bring about. I am also glad to state that the Tonic has greatly relieved me personally of a troublesome atonic condition of the stomach of long standing. It is the ideal purifier and invigorant."

Messrs. HISCOX & Co call especial attention to the fact that after April 16, 1883, the name and style of this preparation will hereafter be simply Parker's Tonic. The word "Ginger" is dropped, for the reason that unprincipled dealers are constantly deceiving their patrons by substituting inferior preparations under the name of Ginger; and as ginger is an unimportant flavoring ingredient in our Tonic, we are sure that our friends will agree with us as to the propriety of the change. There will be no change, however, in the preparation itself, and all bottles remaining in the hands of dealers wrapped under the name of "PARKER'S GINGER TONIC" contains the genuine medicine if the signature of HISCOX & Co is at the bottom of outside wrapper. 16 35 4t

How Watch Cases are Made

Imitation always follows a successful article, and imitation is one of the best proofs of real honest merit; and thus it is that the James Boss' Gold Watch Case has its imitators. Buyers can always tell the genuine by the trade-mark of a crown, from which is suspended a pair of scales. Be sure BOTH crown and scales are stamped in the cap of the watch case. Jewelers are very cautious about endorsing an article unless they not only know that it is good, but that the character of the manufacturers is such that the quality of the goods will be kept fully up to standard.

WILLIAMSPORT, PA., Feb. 12, 1883.
The James Boss' Gold Watch Cases go like hot cakes. Each one I sell sells another. Don't need to recommend them; they sell themselves. One of my customers has had a James Boss' Gold Watch Case in use for 20 years, and it is as good as ever. With this case I do not hesitate to give my own guarantee, especially with the new and improved cases, which seem to be everlasting. JESSE T. LITTLE, Jeweler.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Jan. 8, 1883.
This gold case, No. 6666, known as the James Boss' Gold Watch Case, came into my possession about 1858, has been in use since that time, and is still in good condition. The movement is the one which was in the case when I bought it, and its condition shows that the case has really out-worn the movement, which is played out. MARTIN A. HOWELL,

Blaine's Tour.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 26.—Mr. Blaine did not rise this morning until about 10 o'clock. He breakfasted in his room, and after breakfast he received an Ohio delegation headed by ex-Governor Foster, which had come to escort him on his way, and a smaller one from Chautauqua county, He also received many citizens of Buffalo, who called to pay their respects. He was loudly cheered as he left the hotel at 12.30 to take the train.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 26.—The city is in a furore of excitement over the coming of Mr Blaine. He is to arrive in the city to-night, and thousands of strangers will be here to honor his presence. There will be an immense turnout of marching clubs and organizations from surrounding towns. There is every indication that the visit of Mr. Blaine will gain him many votes here.

As many erroneous statements in regard to Mr. Blaine's trip through Ohio have been made, the following is the official schedule prepared by Colonel Samuel Church, of the Pan Handle company, who has charge of the tour of the state: Mr. Blaine will come into the state at Ashtabula to-day, and proceed to Toledo, stopping at Painesville, Cleveland, Elyria, Norwalk and Fremont, reaching Toledo Saturday evening, September 27, and spending Sunday there. Monday morning, the 29th, will leave for Fostoria and Sandusky. Tuesday, the 30th, visits Tiffin, Carey, Kenton, Bellefontaine, Urbana, Springfield, and stops over night at Dayton. Wednesday, October 1, to Hamilton, and Wednesday evening to Cincinnati, spending Thursday, the 2d, there. He leaves Cincinnati Friday morning, October 3, stopping at Morrow, Xenia, London, and attending a meeting in Columbus in the evening. Saturday morning, October 4, leaves Columbus for Newark, Zanesville, Cambridge, Barnesville and Bellaire.

Cleveland was reached at about 6 o'clock. There was a great gathering in and around the depot. The winding roadway leading from the railroad level to the bluff on which the city stands was lined with men, women and children. When Blaine came out of the depot and was driven toward the hotel he received cheer after cheer. The office and corridors of the hotel, the Kennard house, were crowded. Blaine went at once to his room, but was soon called out by the Young Men's Republican club, who came to pay their respects. He reviewed them from the hotel balcony.

Three Candidates Together.

INDIANAPOLIS, September 26.—Next Thursday promises to be one of the greatest days politically in Indianapolis that has ever been seen. There will be three presidential candidates in the city—Mr. Blaine, Butler, and St. John. The news of Blaine's coming was received this forenoon, and and created more than an ordinary ripple when it became noised around town. Colonel W. W. Dudley simply telegraphed from Columbus, O., that arrangements had been perfected for the Republican standard-bearer to be here on that day, and none of the details of his visit are yet arranged. One of the largest demonstrations in the history of the State is proposed to be given in his honor, and work to that end will begin at once. It is presumed that he will visit the Fair during the afternoon.

Schelling's Second Marriage Denied

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—The report that Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Schelling have been remarried in St. Francis Xavier's Church and that Schelling has been baptized a Roman Catholic is denied by the pastor of that church.

Fires at Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 28.—Cleveland yesterday afternoon had a narrow escape from another disastrous conflagration in the lumber district. The fire started at about 1.40 p. m. in the yards of the Cleveland sawmill and lumbering company, and, fanned by a strong southwest wind, spread with such rapidity as to cause alarm. The fire department, which has become exceedingly vigilant, responded with alacrity, and within ten minutes ten steamers and two hook and ladder companies were at work fighting the flames. By this time several mammoth piles of lumber were on fire, and the principal building of the company was enveloped in flames and apparently doomed. The wind blew fiercely. All work in the vicinity was suspended, and the men from neighboring yards and manufactories, with a multitude of citizens, rushed to the aid of the firemen. Fortunately the wind was blowing toward the river and over an area where there was but little to burn, and to this fact alone can be attributed the escape from a loss of property exceeding anything heretofore reported.

After a fight of over an hour the flames were gotten under control and finally extinguished with a loss to the company not exceeding $25,000. Talk of lynching the firebugs was freely indulged in on all sides.

While the attention of the crowd was absorbed by this fire, flames were discovered bursting from a passenger coach and baggage car of the Connoton Valley railroad, which was standing on the track half a mile away, and in close proximity to wooden buildings and other combustible material. A switch engine was speedily attached to them and they were drawn down the track to a point where there was no danger of firing anything else, and were quickly consumed. The loss on the cars is about $3,500. A colored bootblack, about 14 years of age, who seemed to know considerable about the firing of the cars was arrested and held as a witness.

An attempt was also made late in the afternoon to burn the Perkins block on the south side of the square.

Purdy & McNeil, one of the largest lumber firms in this city, yesterday received an anonymous letter from Chicago, warning them that their stock would be in ashes before Monday. Thomas Manning of the machine works, received a similar warning, and both firms have taken precaution accordingly. The excitement is general, and there is hardly a resident of Cleveland that does not feel apprehensive for the safety of his property.

Accident at the Erie Fair.

ERIE, Sept. 26.—Special reports sent from Erie to-day stating that twenty persons were killed by the falling of the grand stand at the Erie county fair, are entirely false. Late this afternoon a guy supporting the frame work of a balloon which was being sent up from the grounds, fell crushing the skull of Samuel C. Pherrin, a prominent farmer, living within the limits of this city and killing him instantly. It also struck James Wadsworth, a farmer of Girard, Pa., on the head, injuring him seriously, but not fatally. W. P. Edwards, secretary of the Agricultural society, had some teeth knocked out and his face disfigured. The accident was caused by the cutting of the guy ropes by some unknown persons. All subsequent attractions of the fair were declared off. Pherrin was 40 years old and leaves a widow and a large family.

Fire in Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 25.—A disastrous fire broke out on the South Side about half-past 10 o'clock to-night and at midnight was still raging. Abel, Smith & Co.'s extensive glass works, covering an area of two acres together with Robinson, Rea & Co.'s machine shops and five frame dwellings, have been consumed, and as the buildings in the vicinity are of combustible material, it is feared the flames will get beyond cnotrol of the fire department. Fortunately the wind is not very high. The loss so far is $200,000.

The fire started in the furnace house of Smith & Co.'s works, and it is believed resulted from carelessness. At 12.35 the fire is still burning, but it believed that all danger of its spreading is past. The loss as near as can be ascertained to-night is: Abel Smith & Co., $60,000, insurance, $31,000. Robinson, Rea & Co., $120,000; insurance, $60,000.

The Cholera in Italy.

ROME, September 28.—One fresh case of cholera has been reported to-day in Rome, the patient being a soldier. In the kingdom of Italy during the last twenty-four hours there have been reported 408 new cases and 222 deaths, including 116 cases and seventy-four deaths at Naples, and thirty-nine cases and twenty-five deaths at Genoa. Since the outbreak of the disease in Italy 13,220 persons have been attacked and 9,480 have died.

Golden Wedding at Easton.

EASTON, Sept. 26.—The golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. William Hammann was celebrated last evening by a gathering of the family and friends, many of whom came from Philadelphia and Bethlehem. Mr. Hammann was from its organization until within a few years teller of the First National Bank and his seven sons now hold positions of trust and importance in this community. Quite a number of valuable presents were bestowed on the aged couple.

Death of John W. Garrett.

DEER PARK, Md., September 16.—Mr. John W. Garrett died at 5.25 o'clock this morning of a complication of diseases, after a sickness of about fifteen months. He had been more or less unconscious for two days, and throughout yesterday, had not taken notice of anything. His disease, involving the kidneys, was characterized by his physicians as nervous exhaustion from long continued and intense application to the business of the Baltimore and Ohio railway company, caused more immediately by the shock of Mrs. Garrett's death on the 15th of November, 1883, and the suspense and anxiety to which he was subjected during the three weeks of her illness.

A SKETCH OF MR. GARRETT'S LIFE.

John W. Garrett was born in West Middletown, Washington county, and his father, Robert Garrett, was born in the same county on a farm about five miles from West Middletown. When quite a young man the father of John W. moved to West Middletown, where he opened a grocery store, and was married. The house in which the great railroad president was born is still standing. It was originally built of logs, a brick addition was subsequently put up, and afterwards a frame structure was attached. While keeping store in West Middletown the father made frequent visits to Baltimore to purchase goods, and, after his first wife died he removed to that city, and married a second time. Young John went with his father and was engaged in the grocery business with him. Then they became interested in the Ohio and Chesapeake canal, and finally in the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, a corporation which has grown to its present gigantic proportions under the conservative management of John W. Garrett.

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 23.—The funeral of John W. Garrett took place to-day. The services were of the simplest character. The remains were taken to Greenmount cemetery, the funeral cortege comprising upwards of 150 carriages. Within and outside the cemetery walls fully 12,000 persons were gathered to pay their last tribute of respect to the deceased.

The Great Telephone Suit.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—The mechanical contrivances which for three days have adorned the desk behind which Judge Wallace sits in the United State Circuit Court and listens to the arguments of the lawyers in the great suit of the Bell Telephone Company vs. The People's Telephone Company had been removed this morning when the case was contined. They had been packed away in huge tin trunks and excused from further attention to the deliberations of the Court. Judge Wallace looked a trifle weary when he came in and took his seat on the bench. Evidently the long and dreary arguments of the counsel in the case are beginning to have their natural effect upon the Court. Ex-Judge Hill continued his argument for the defense and had not concluded when court adjourned.

Secretary of the Treasury.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Judge Gresham, postmaster general, received a telegram from the president after 11 o'clock last night, informing him of his appointment to the secretaryship of the treasury. He immediately qualified, and sent the president his resignation as postmaster general. At 10 o'clock this morning Gresham went to the treasury with Secretary Chandler. His designation from the president was given him by O. L. Pruden, assistant private secretary of the president, and his commission by the third assistant secretary of state, A. A. Adee. The two assistant secretaries of the treasury, French and Coon, were present, and tendered their congratulations. The new secretary will leave here this afternoon to consult with the president. Under the law First Assistant Postmaster General Hatton becomes acting postmaster general for ten days.

Uniting for Blaine.

ASHLAND, Sept. 25.—The population of the southeastern part of Columbia Co. is almost entirely composed of Irish-American Democrats. For some time they have openly expressed their opposition to Cleveland and preference for Blaine. This feeling culminated last night in the organization of a strong Blaine and Logan Club composed entirely of Irish-Americans and one or two Germans. Several of the members have voted the Democratic ticket for forty years. The disaffection is spreading, and other clubs will be formed in the course of the next two weeks.

Mr. Blaine and the Russian Jews.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—The essential portions of a heretofore unpublished dispatch from Mr. Blaine, when Secretary of State, to Minister Lowell, regarding the condition of the Jews in Russia, has been obtained from the State Department and made public. It referred in particular to Jews who are American citizens visiting Russia for proper purposes, but incidentally sought to better the condition of Jews who lived in Russia.

Georgia's New Capitol.

ATLANTA, Sept. 26.—The contract for the new Georgia Capitol was let to-day to Miles & Horn, of Toledo, Ohio, for $862,762. The stone to be used is Indiana oolitic stone, from the Salem Stone and Lime Company, of Louisville, Ky. Work will be commenced at once and the building rapidly forwarded to completion. It is expected that it will be finished in from three and one-half to four years.

Terrible Fight with a Pet Bear.

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Sept. 26.—At 6 o'clock to-night, while a number of the cadets of the East Florida Military College were bathing in the lake at Orange Park, a pet bear, owned by H. M. Oliver, broke his chain and, rushing into the water, attacked the bathers. William Jefferies, aged 17 years, was unable to extricate himself from the bear's clutches and his companions on shore arming themselves with knives and clubs rushed to his rescue. The animal's attention being attracted to the attacking party he released his hold on his victim, who was so badly squeezed and mangled that he drowned before his friends could reach him. A desperate fight, at close quarters, ensued between the bear and the drowned boy's friends. Nearly all of the party were considerably injured, and the bear was bleeding freely, when a gentleman rushed up with a gun and shot him dead.

Morosini's Furniture at Auction.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—For some days past large cart-loads of furniture have been removed from the Morosini mansion at Yonkers and put into cars at the depot. To-day this furniture was displayed in auction rooms on Cedar street and it will be sold to the highest bidder to-morrow. The furniture is very costly. A large table of dark wood, brought from Venice, is thickly inlaid with ivory. There are some dozens of paintings and a tall screen, hand-painted in floral designs. A low fire-screen, is covered with hand-embroideries and many bits of fancy work are said to have been the productions of the young ladies of the household. There are also "Louis Quatorze" mirrors, two rosewood pianos, Turkish rugs and glass and silverware.

An Insane Cashier.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—F. H. Pauche, cashier of the Manhattan Shade Company, has been a guest at the Sturtevant House about four months. He has recently shown symptoms of insanity and has been under treatment by Dr. Fry. To-day he became very violent and was with difficulty kept from wandering through the halls in a half nude condition. Detective Haight, of the hotel, managed to control him for a time, but to-night he became uncontrollable and it took two policemen and three or four servants of the hotel to get him to the station house. He was thence taken to the New York Hospital, preparatory to commitment to Bloomingdale Asylum. He is well connected in Philadelphia.

Incendiaries Getting in their Work

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Sept. 28.—Vigorous endeavors to carry out threats made by "fire-bugs" in an anonymous letter yesterday, to lay the city in ashes, were made to day with the following result: The total destruction of a stable in the First ward; a dwelling house in the Sixth ward slightly damaged, and an unsuccessful attempt to fire a large stable in the Fourth ward. Three suspicious characters were arrested and lodged in jail. There was considerable excitement and threats of lynching were made.

Deacon White Bets on Blaine.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Deacon White, whose connection with Plymouth Church, of which organization he was until recently treasurer, and whose deeds in Lackawanna have given him considerable notoriety, is a strong Blaine man. To day, urged by the jeers of some of the Wall street boys who are for Cleveland, he took to betting on Blaine. He made three bets of $1,000 each with Bob Elliott Then Charley Hudson got him to bet $2,000 to $1,900 on the Maine man. Then the Deacon offered $1,000 to $750 any number of times on his favorite. It was estimated that the Deacon bet about $7,000.

A Cyclone Wrecks a Village.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Sept. 27.—A cyclone struck the village of Wellsburg, six miles east of here, at 8 o'clock this evening. Houses, barns and other buildings were unroofed, orchards destroyed and the streets were thickly strewn with trees. The wind was accompanied by a terrific rain storm, lasting for some time and which deluged the streets.

—A union temperance service was held in the Methodist church on Sunday evening, Rev. Wm. Laurie, of the Presbyterian church, preaching the sermon. We believe these union temperance services are to be held regularly hereafter about four times each year.

The Mountain Ash.

Among the trees which are used for shade in some parts of the state can be seen a tree bearing numerous bunches of bright colored berries. This tree is the mountain ash, a very near relative of the apple and pear family. The mountain ash is in reality not an ash at all, but is a member of the fruit-bearing rose family. As the name suggests, it is a native of high latitudes, and like most other trees of windy regions, it has its leaves divided into small opposite leaflets, to prevent them from being tattered by the storms. You will usually find from nine to fifteen of these small leaflets thus arranged into a compact leaf.

The flowers of the mountain ash are white, small and closely resemble those of the apple, and are arranged in clusters of cymes, containing from fifty to a hundred or more. The tree is sometimes called the rowan, and is like the true ash only in its leaves. As the flowers gradually develop into fruit we have the red, purple or green clusters that in August and September make the trees so attractive to the eye of man and birds. The small globular berries are apples in a very miniature from indeed. If you cut them across the middle you will see that they have the structure of apples, having the colored skin, the fleshy portion and the horny core containing the seeds. One variety, cultivated on the continent of Europe, assumed the shape of a little brown pear.—Altoona Tribune.

MR. HENDRICKS claims that in posing as a war Democrat he has not changed his opinion since the war. We do not believe him, for his speeches are matter of record. Will he deny having changed his opinion on the subject of temperance? He is now asserting the right of a man to perfect liberty to drink what he pleases. The Congressional Record reports him as saying, page 31, March 8, 1867, on the bill to prevent the sale of liquor in the capitol building: "I am prepared to vote for this or any other bill short of putting to death a man who shall take a drink of liquor." Will Mr. Hendricks get up and say he never even heard of the capitol building until he saw this charge? Or will he own up for once that he has fallen from grace?

EVERY Democratic paper in the country has published the statement that Senator Edmunds was opposed to Blaine and had denounced him as the attorney of Jay Gould and his lobby. Mr. Edmunds denies over his own signature that he ever made such a statement or anything like it. He says he is not conscious of ever having thought that Mr. Blaine was the attorney of Gould, and furthermore, he announces his determination to vote for Blaine and Logan. Let us hope that the Post will not again repeat the slander that Edmunds is not for Blaine.

IN 1879, after the last of the so-called Mulligan letters had been written, a Boston newspaper reporter interviewed Mr. Mulligan who gave it as his opinion that Mr. Blaine was entirely honest in his transactions in the Little Rock and Ft. Smith enterprise. We don't consider Mr. Mulligan's opinion of much value but it at least should off-set any opinions he may have expressed during the campaign.

EVERY voter who expects to support Blaine and Logan should pay state and county taxes before the 4th of October.

Lines from Loveville.

LOVEVILLE, Sept. 25, 1884

If you want to see nice large pumpkins come to Loveville and vicinity.

Cider making time is here and the lovers of juice can now indulge to the satisfaction of their appetites.

Mr. W. F. Beck, of Centre Line, has accepted an engagement to canvas for a photo-copying firm of Harrisburg. He will start on October 1st.

Mr. Robert Downing has improved his residence by the erection of a large veranda which adds greatly to the convenience and handsome appearance of the building.

Through some disarrangement of the top pulley on the B. and L. pole raised at this place, the rope became fast, and in trying to loosen it, it was broken and the flag stripped off. It will now be drawn from the top of house to house across Main street.

Mr. B. W. Rumbarger, took a somewhat sudden departure from Loveville Monday morning last, and notwithstanding many questions, information as to his destination could not be obtained. He returned on Tuesday looking as handsome as ever. With consideration for him, we will not surmise as to his errand.

Miss Ada C. Gates, of Williamsburg, Blair county, who formerly resided at Centre Line, is now making an extended visit to her many friends in this vicinity. As it is quite a long time since she left this place, she will doubtless receive a warm welcome from all and return to her home delighted with the pleasure experienced while here.

Mr. Daniel Rhoads and Mr. Sinnickson Smith recently returned from Philadelphia where they purchased a new supply of goods for their store in this place. Notwithstanding the depression in business the past summer their trade was good and the room appears emptier than it has for some time. With the added attractions of the new stock now arriving and the low prices, we predict a rush of business for them in the future.

On Friday evening, the 19th inst., a Greenback meeting was held in the Loveville school house. Your correspondent, feeling somewhat undisposed, failed to get there, but from others we learn that the speakers were called from the assemblage present. The first man responding was Mr. Geo. Gates, who blowed out Greenbackism for an hour, when he was called to his seat, the time allotted having expired. Others that responded were Messrs. Wm. Cole, Isaac Wrey and George Fisher, but somehow or other they forgot it was a Greenback meeting and the consequence was they all made first-class Blaine speeches. Now that's too bad, boys; we didn't think you would be so mean as to turn "old George's" meeting into a Blaine one. But then you really don't know where to stop; you are so enthusiastic.

We are led to thus discourse on the impropriety of gossip. In explanation, we will say that we don't mean the idle gossip of the times, the repeating of the happenings and the hearsays of the community and world at large, but the continual clatter about some person or persons who are not as nicely situated as they are, not favored with the same amount of this world's goods—gossip which will tend to the dissemination of some unworthy or incredible story that has for its foundation only an idle rumor, but which will greatly detract from one's reputation and which the lovers of gossip, to satisfy their gossiping craze, magnify greatly, until what at first was only a mole hill hardly discernible to the mind's eye rears itself into the highest mountain and finally will culminate into the inevitable—a scandal. * * * How much better to pay no heed to uncertain things until their truth is established and the acts committed unfit one for a proper associate in society. Then and then only is it time to give them the "cold shoulder;" not by perpetual clatter, however, in regard to their actions and character, but by non-association with them, stating your reasons concisely and truthfully without adding thereto or taking therefrom, and that friendship that ought to exist between all will be purer, freer and more implicitly truthful. WEB.

—Mr. Van Ormer, of this place, accompanied by Mr. George B. Eby, of Lancaster, favored this office with a call Wednesday morning. Mr. V., as everybody knows, is a staunch Democrat, and we were therefore glad to seem him in company with such an excellent Republican as Mr. Eby evidently is. Both gentlemen will be warmly welcomed whenever they feel like visiting an editor's den.

—Many persons who went to church on Sunday evening were not prepared for the rain which began about 7:30 o'clock and consequently had some difficulty in returning home.

MOTHER'S ROOM.

I'm awfully sorry for poor Jack Roe;
He's the boy that lives with his aunt, you know,
And he says his house is filled with gloom
Because it has got no "mother's room."
I tell you what, it is fine enough
To talk of "boudoirs" and such fancy stuff,
But the room of rooms that seems best to me,
The room where I'd always rather be,
Is mother's room, where a fellow can rest,
And talk of the things his heart loves best.

What if I do get dirt about,
And sometimes startle my aunt with a shout;
It is mother's room, and if she don't mind,
To the hints of others I'm always blind,
Maybe I lose my things—what then?
In mother's room I find them again.
And I've never denied tha I litter the floor
With marbles and tops and many things more,
But I tell you, for boys with a tired head,
It is jolly to rest it on motner's bed.

Now poor Jack Roe, when he visits me,
I take him to mother's room, you see,
Because it's the nicest place to go
When a fellow's spirits are getting low.
And mother, she's always kind and sweet,
And there's always a smile poor Jack to greet.
And somehow the sunbeams seem to glow
More brightly in mother's room, I know,
Than anywhere else, and you'll never find gloom
Or any old shadow in mother's room.

Mary D. Brine in Harper's Young People.

OUR BABY.

Golden hair, blue eyes,
Blue as any summer skies,
Dimpled chin, rosy cheek,
Little tongue that cannot speak.
That's our baby!

She sometimes says "Ah goo and ga!"
And soon she'll learn to say papa;
She is yet far too young to talk,
And it will be long before she'll walk.
That's our baby!

Troubled thoughts ne'er cross her brain;
She sleeps, then wakes, then sleeps again.
She's just as cunning as she can be.
And so we love her, don't you see?
She's our own darling baby.

Aged 9 years. By Francis Dorr Swift.

All Sorts.

The most afflicted part of the house is the window. It is always full of panes, and who has not seen more than one window-blind?

"A Maine woman cabled the death of her cat to her husband in Europe." Some women are unable to restrain their joy. It must have a vent.

"Ah, isn't she a duck?" cried an admirer as the doctor's daughter passed. "No doubt," replied a mean wretch; "her father is a quack."

SPICES.—The best cook in the land cannot cook successfully without pure, fresh spices. These we have in every variety. Well-seasoned food adds to long life and happiness.

SUGARS AND SYRUPS.—In Sugars and Syrups we have all the best brands in the market. Much of the sugar now sold is adulterated, and in an article of this kind there is great waste. We buy from reliable dealers, and handle only the genuine goods.

TEAS AND COFFEES.—No breakfast can be thoroughly enjoyed without a good cup of coffee or tea. A drink of this kind is stimulating and goes right to the spot. Our Coffees and Teas are fresh and strictly pure. The fragrant odor which escapes from the steaming pot as it comes in from the kitchen will convince you of this. We sell more coffee than any other two houses in the county. Why? Because we sell the best and the people know it.

NUTS, CONFECTIONERY, ETC.—In Nuts and Confectionery we have everything that is nice, and just what will please the young folks, and old folks as well. Our candies are all pure and wholesome; We do not handle the highly-colored, poisonous mixtures that ruin and decay the teeth. We have new Florida oranges (this fall's crop), fine Figs and Prunes, and a choice line of Canned Fruits and Preserves. Bear this in mind when preparing to Celebrate the merry holidays.

LATEST TELEGRAPHIC NEWS

Philadelphia Alive with Enthusiasm.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 23—Blaine slept late this afternoon, after the fatigue of yesterday, and breakfasted in his room. After breakfast he received callers for three hours, among them some of the most prominent business men of Philadelphia. At one o'clock he went for a drive in Fairmount Park. Large crowds had gathered in the hotel corridors and around Chestnut street, but Blaine slipped out quietly by Ninth street.

The Union League proposes to give Blaine a reception this afternoon, but this part of the programme will probably be abandoned for want of time.

In the evening he will review a parade from the Union League. After the review he will return to New York.

Senator Don Cameron was among the first to call upon Blaine. James M. Scovel was also among the callers.

There was an informal reception at the Union League this afternoon commencing at 3 o'clock and lasting about two hours. Ladies were admitted and the scene was brilliant. Mr. Blaine afterwards dined with members of the League.

While the party were still at dinner Senator Don Cameron came to bid Blaine good-bye. At about 7.30 Blaine, protected on one side by Elkins and on the other by Baker, President of the Union League, made his way through the usual crowd to his carriage and was driven to a private entrance of the club house, where again police had to hold the people in check while he made his way into the building. The Club House was relatively more crowded than the streets and Mr. Blaine was again compelled to undergo the hand shaking ordeal. He was shortly afterwards escorted to the platform erected in front of the building, where he reviewed the parade, the head of which, led by General Hartranft, passed the stand and was enthusiastically applauded. From the Union League Club House one could see about a mile and a half down Broad street. The procession filled the whole of this space and during the whole time Blaine remained on the stand torches, appearing in the distance like a solid mass of moving fire, could be seen filling Broad street at the lower end. All the clubs wore neat uniforms and moved in military order, and the marching of most of them was admirable. Each club as it passed the stand gave three cheers for "J G. Blaine," or for "James G. Blaine, our next President," and Blaine in each instance removed his hat and bowed. The young Republicans of Philadelphia, a body of quiet young gentlemen, were especially demonstrative. They cheered in college boy style as they passed and were in turn loudly cheered by the crowd. As to the number in procession no mere spectator could form an intelligent estimate, but the Mayor of the city expressed the opinion that there were more than 30,000 marching men. He declined to make an estimate of the number of spectators, but remarked in a figurative way that he believed half the population of Philadelphia were out. It was understood in advance that there was to be no speaking, so no demand was made for a speech by Blaine. At 9:15 p. m., while the procession was still in full force, Blaine bowed repeatedly and left the stand. Upon re-entering the club house he took some refreshments, after which he passed out amid most enthusiastic cheering, and, entering his carriage, was rapidly driven to the depot and left for New York at 9:35 on a special train.

NEW YORK, September 23.—The special train carrying Blaine and party from Philadelphia arrived in Jersey City at 11:35 p. m. Blaine was greatly pleased with his reception in Philadelphia, and on the return trip he declared that notwithstanding the labors of the day he was not at all fatigued.

An Epidemic among Birds.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 22.—The fact of the alarming number of deaths of birds, especially of English sparrows, in this locality recently, has attracted the attention of scientists throughout the State. Professor Bonge, of Cumberland, a well-known taxidermist and ornithologist, gives it as his opinion that the epidemic now prevailing among the birds is a sort of malarial fever caused by the extremely hot, dry days and very cool nights within the past six or eight weeks, producing a vitiated and miasmatic atmosphere; and further says he has noticed the symptoms of this disease among the birds resemble those of Texas fever in cattle. The disappearance of the birds has been a cause of alarm to many who see in it indications of the approach of the cholera.

Struck by Lightning.

DOVER, N. H., Sept. 23.—Theodore Rouleau, aged 18, and Hortense Paro, aged 16, both French Canadians while walking home from a ball at Rochester last night, were both struck by lightning. Rouleau was instantly killed. Miss Paro's hair and one arm and hand were badly burned, and she has lost her reason, which, it is feared, will not be restored.

Miss Minnie Garrison Married.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Miss Minnie Garrison, the eldest daughter of the late William R. Garrison, was married yesterday to M. Gaston Chandon de Buailles, son of Count Paul Chandon de Buailles of Epernay, France, at her mother's country seat in Elberon, N. J., known as Re Tallach. A special car conveyed about forty intimate friends of the family at 11 o'clock to Elberon station, whence they were taken in carriages to the residence. At 1½ p. m. the bride, supported by her mother and followed by her sister, Miss Estelle Garrison, who acted as bridesmaid, by her brother, Master W. R. Garrison, and by her sister, Miss C. Garrison, entered the main hall and stood under a large floral bell made entirely of red and white roses. The bridegroom stood beside her, attended by the Hon. Chas. Rannay of Scotland as best man. Archbishop Corrigan and the priest of the parish, Father McFarrel, performed the ceremony.

The bride was given away by her granduncle, Abram Garrison of Pittsburg. There were present Commodore C. K. Garrison, Gen. D. R. Butterfield, Gen. Swaim, Gen. and Mrs. Van Vilet, Mr. Hoey, Mr. and Mrs. Randal, Mr. and Mrs. Van Vort, Miss Van Vort, Mr. Chas. Leary, Miss Dressler, Capt. F. R, Baby, Mr. and Mrs. Estill, and many others.

The bride wore a dress made by Seneschal of London, the front of which was white satin embroidered with pearls, and the back made of old family lace, the whole cut incroyable. Her ornaments were a diamond necklace and bracelet and a brooch of pearls and diamonds, all set in silver, the gifts of the bridegroom. They are valued at $60,000. The flowers were orange blossoms. The bridesmaid wore a pale pink satin lisse with pearl ornaments, also by Seneschal. The bride's mother, Mrs. William R. Garrison, was in deep mourning. She wore pearl and diamond ornaments. There were many handsome toilets, and diamonds sparkled through the well-furnished rooms. Flowers were everywhere, and after the ceremony the newly married couple, with their friends and relatives, sat down to a collation.

Blaine's Tour.

NEW YORK, September 24—Mr Blaine this morning received a delegation from the Young Men's Republican club, of Brooklyn, who came to inform him of the action of the club last night in resolving to suport him. Blaine thanked the delegation, and at 8.10 Chairman James D. Warren, of the republican state committee, and A. S. Draper, of the executive committee, waited on him and escorted him to the Grand Central depot. At this point a crowd of five hundred people assembled at 9 o'clock. Amid loud cheers the train drew out of the depot. Blaine was accompanied on the trip by Messrs. Warren and Draper, John W. Vrooman, Barney Biglin, and Captain Chester A. Colt, of the state committee; Martin I. Townsend, of Troy, Congressman J. M. Pomeroy, Walker Blaine, and Postmaster Manley.

YONKERS, N. Y., September. 24.—Mr. Blaine, in company with Chairman Warner and Andrew S. Draper, of the state committee, arrived at 9 o'clock this mourning, and was received with hearty cheers all along from the hotel to the cars, where the crowd was kept in order by police.

Stops were made at Cold Spring, Auburn, Fishkill, Poughkeepsie, Little Falls, Herkimer, Utica, Rome and Oneida, at all of which places great crowds surrounded the train and vociferously cheered the presidential candidate. Mr. Blaine spoke briefly at each place, offering his thanks for the gracious welcome by which he was greeted.

At Herkimer General Spinner was among those assembled at the depot, and great enthusiasm was aroused when Mr. Blaine extended his hand and helped the old gentleman to the platform of the car. At Amsterdam, Feuda and Fort Plain there were large and enthusiastic gatherings. At each place Mr. Blaine briefly addressed the assemblage, expressing his thanks for cordial reception given him.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 24.—Blaine had a most enthusiastic reception here to-night, and will continue on his journey to-morrow.

The Lutherans.

EASTON, Sept. 23.—The closing session of the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of East Pennsylvania was held to-day. The report of the state of religion showed to the minds of the ministers that too much attention had been given to the financial and not enough to the spiritual part of the work. A resolution was adopted directing church councils to insure the lives of their ministers in the Lutheran Ministers' Insurance League also recommending the pastors to preach a sermon on the Lutheran view of being called to the ministry, so that young men might be led to take up the work.

Rev. Dr. Valentine was elected president of the Lutheran Seminary at Gettysburg, vice Dr. C. A. Stork, deceased. The endowment of the institution is now $91,000 and a committee was appointed to increase this amount. The offer of Dr. Morris to convey the Female Seminary at Lutherville to the Church was held under advisement. A memorial to the General Synod asks that a set form for calling a pastor be adopted and published. The next meeting of Synod will be at Ashland.

An Army of People Starving.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., September 24.—The following vessels were wrecked on the Labrador coast during the recent easterly gales: Corneilla, Mayflower, Annie, Alice, Osprey and Jessie. In White Bay district 3,000 persons are starving. Commander French, of the war ship Cloide, and passing vessels rendered temporary assistance. Commander French forwarded a strong appeal for aid to the Newfoundland government.

A Girl's Foolish Freak.

BOSTON, Sept. 22—A 12-year old girl of Farmingham on Friday packed a valise with diamonds and negotiable bonds to the amount of $60,000, belonging to her mother, a wealthy lady, and started for Boston to meet a young man and elope with him. She was arrested on Saturday, the valuables recovered and the girl taken home. The amount stolen was divided as follows; $15,000 in bank bills, three one thousand dollar United States bonds, seven thousand dollars' worth of diamonds, and thirty-five thousand dollars' worth of railroad stock. The girl's name is Sadie Robinson, and she is a daughter of C. E Robinson. Sadie's mind has been filled with nonsensical ideas about runaway marriages. When charged with stealing the valuables she first indignantly denied it, but subsequently confessed.

She said that on Friday morning she took a valise with her when she went to school to Boston and had given it to a woman to whom she told a blood-curdling story of having her life threatened unless she complied with the demand for money. She said she met the woman in the Albany station and gave her the valise containing the valuables. The valise and valuables were recovered in a drug store, where Sadie had left them, promising to call for them to day. She confessed that she loved the young man, whose name she refused to give, and had taken the money with the intention of eloping.

Mr. Blaine's Movements

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Mr. Blaine left the hotel to take the 6.15 train for Newark, N. J, where he will stop for a short time. He was accompanied by Chairman B F. Jones and Secretary Fessenden, of the national committee; S. B. Elkins, Secretary Eugene Hale, ex-Governor A. B. Cornell and Postmaster Manley, of Augusta, and the delegation from the Philadelphia to-night. The train will stop at Elizabeth, Rahway, New Brunswick and Trenton. Mr. Blaine will return here late to-morrow night.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22—Hon. James G. Blaine arrived in this city in the midst of a heavy shower, and was at once driven to the Continental hotel, where a large crowd had gathered. Mr. Blaine went immediately to his rooms. In response to loud calls for Mr. Blaine his son Walker came down stairs and asked that his father be excused and be allowed a good night's rest after an arduous day's work. The crowd then slowly disappeared. To-morrow night's demonstration, weather permitting, will be a grand affair. It is expected at least 25,000 men will be in line.

Harry Clay Fatally Wounded.

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 21.—Harry Clay, a well-known lawyer and politician, was shot and perhaps fatally wounded here this morning by Andrew Wepler, a Councilman of the Eleventh ward. Clay was drinking, and wanted to borrow some money from Wepler, who would not lend him as much as he wanted. Clay then began to abuse Wepler and went out for a pistol with which to shoot him. On his return the two men, armed with pistols, said they were ready to fight, and took their stands. Wepler fired a ball which struck Clay in the groin and ranged downward in the thigh. Clay is the grandson of Henry Clay. He was one of the Arctic voyagers in the ill-fated Proteus, and is prominently mentioned for Congress from this district. His wound is very dangerous, though he may recover. Wepler gave himself up. Clay has since died.

A Disastrous Boiler Explosion.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Sept. 23.—This evening an upright boiler in Witters brewery exploded, fragments being thrown through the roof and three hundred feet from the building. The brewery took fire immediately and was totally consumed, together with its contents. F. W. Baur's grocery store adjoining was also burned. Loss $25,000. Two men were reported to have been killed by the explosion, but the report lacks confirmation.

The Work of Mrs. Gen. Hancock.

NEW YORK, September 22.—Mrs. General Hancock just completed the music for a centenary ode for the hundreth birthday of Sir Moses Montefiore, the Hebrew philanthropist. The occasion will be celebrated all over the world by Sir Moses' friends, and it was in compliance with the wish of many of his admirers in Baltimore that Mrs. Hancock prepared the original music. It is arranged for a full orchestra.

Blaine's Reception in Buffalo.

BUFFALO, Sept. 22.—Elaborate arrangements are being made for the reception to be tendered Mr. Blaine on Thursday night. Companies of Plumed Knights from Rochester and several adjoining towns in Monroe and Niagara counties and from several towns in Erie county will be present and will take part in the grand parade. A committee of prominent citizens will go to Batavia to meet Mr. Blaine and his party.

A Sorely Afflicted Family.

PHILIPSBURG, N. J., Sept. 22.—The family of Patrick Kalegher is sadly bereaved. Within a week three children have died and been buried and to day the life of the mother and another child is despaired of. The father is just up from a sick bed and Mrs. Kalegher's mother is ill from overwork in caring for the sick. All suffer from an aggravated form of dysentery.

General Logan in Ohio.

CANTON, Sept 22.—A special train bearing General Logan, C. H. Andrews, William D. Kelley, General Noyes, Mayor McKinley and the escort committee left Youngstown for Alliance at 9 o'clock this morning. At Alliance the party were met at the depot by three Republican clubs and escorted to the public square, where General Logan and others addressed seven thousand persons. The train then proceeded to Massillon, where the speakers were escorted to the central part of the city and addressed an immense concourse of people. At 4 o'clock the train returned to Canton. In the evening there was a monster torchlight procession and speaking in the Wigwam and Opera House by General Logan, Mr. Kelley, General Beaver, Major McKinley and others. General Logan goes to Akron to-morrow.

YORK, Pa., Sept. 22.—A. B. Farquhar, of the Pennsylvania Agricultural Works, has been making a tour of Europe, and in his return home to-night his employes, to the number of 425, with Chinese lanterns and transparencies, headed by a band of music, marched out to his country seat, "Edgecombe," and bid him welcome home. The men were served with a sumptuous banquet.

An Embarrassing Blunder in a Message.

From the San Francisco Chronicle.

Several days ago Mr. Saunders, the proprietor of the Woodland Democrat, had occasion to transmit a message to Oakland, Cal., and the following was formulated and started over the wires in good shape: "Cannot be down till Thursday—foreman drunk." As appointed, he went down on Thursday, and was not a little chagrined to learn that his telegram had been the source of much puzzling and speculation among his friends, to whom it read as follows: "Cannot come down till Thursday forenoon—drunk."

Skill vs. Ignorance.

As a perfect pharmaceutical preparation, we are told that Hood's Sarsaparilla surpasses any proprietary article upon the market. Even to our inexperienced eye we see positive indications of the truth of the foregoing. A glance at the article shows the scrupulous neatness and care with which the details of its manufacture and putting up must be conducted. These points are of importance in any business, but in the manipulations of remedies for the relief of human suffering they become of supreme importance, and only such medicines are worthy public confidence.

The Morosini Case.

YONKERS, N. Y., Sept. 22.—The charge preferred against Victoria Morosini, now Mrs. Hulskamp, by her brother, Attilio Morosini, for the alleged stealing of a diamond breastpin, was dismissed to-day by City Judge Peniz, of Yonkers, no one appearing on either side.

Polishing the Wrong End.

Many men daily polish their boots who never give a thought to the condition of their hair, except to harrow it occasionally with a brush and comb, or submit it to the paralyzing attentions of the average barber. What happens? Why, this: From neglect, mental anxiety, or any of a score of causes, the hair turns prematurely gray and begins to fall out. Parker's Hair Balsam will at once stop the latter process and restore the original color. An elegant dressing, free from grease.

Narrow Escape of Dom Pedro II.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Sept 21—Dom Pedro II, emperor of Brazil, while returning from a naval review, had a narrow escape from drowning. The boat which he was in capsized, but he was rescued.

Adolf Palloz, carriage manufacturer, 119 Carroll street, Buffalo, N. Y., states: "I was troubled with nausea of the stomach, sick headache and general debility. Burdock Blood Bitters cured me."

—Captain Clark, formerly chief of the Coal and Iron police, but at present located at Peale city, Centre county, with the new Vanderbilt coal company was in attendance at the execution at Ebensburg on Tuesday, Sept. 23.—Altoona Tribune.

—Last Sunday evening, remarks the Altoona Tribune, began the great fast of Yom Kippur, or day of Atonement, the most solemn of all the Hebrew calendar. The decade of days preceding it are specially dedicated to penitential preparation.

—Williamsport had a murder Saturday night. Sept, 20, and rum was at the bottom of it. Frank Gordon and George Lewis had been drinking together. Gordon accused Lewis of stealing his watch and in the quarrel that ensued shot him through the heart.

—Two lone women marched through the streets of this place last Thursday, stopping in front of residences and business houses, and while one of them ground forth execrable music from a very inferior hand-organ the other collected pennies and nickles.

—A new enterprise, called the American Rapid Telegraph Company, has just completed its lines to Bellefonte. Any information desired will be cheerfully given upon inquiry by letter or in person to William Speer, superintendent, or George Washington Mifflin Dallas Kennedy, division operator.

—We are informed that there is so much coal tar mixed with the water which flows from the well recently dug at the Steam Heating Company's works that it is thus far unfit for use. A depth of about 120 feet has been reached. In time, however, the deposits of coal tar may be all washed out and the water be sufficiently pure for all practical purposes.

—The "stone mill" in the Loop not far fromCentre Hall was burned to the ground Sunday night, Sept., 21, at 12 o'clock together with the house next to it, the residents of the dwelling barely escaping with their lives. Mr. Samuel Rupley was the owner of the mill and the occupant and owner of the house. All the contents of both buildings were destroyed. The fire is thought to be the work of an incendiary. We have no estimate of the loss, but the insurance was only $1,000.

A Specimen of English Advice.

Mrs. William Lyon, of this place, is an English lady, coming from England about 12 years ago. She has a brother in a branch of the Bank of England in the city of Bath, another brother in a branch of the Bank of England in India, and still another managing a tea garden in India. These brothers are devoted subjects of Great Britian. Their American sister receives frequent communications from them and a letter to Mrs. Lyon from the brother in England was taken from the post office on Sunday, the 21st. It was written from Bristol, England, and contained the usual brotherly admonition and advice. But amongst other things, it contained an allusion to American politics. Referring to the Presidential candidates, he used the following characteristic, English language; "Out of a bad lot, I think Gov. Cleveland is the best, and if you were a brother instead of a sister I would advise you to work for him, as by so doing you might help our interest at home." The italics are our own, but they show what the average Britain thinks of every time. It is to elect Gov. Cleveland and thus bring about free trade, and have the opportunity to flood her cheap manufactures upon this country without any competition. Is it not time for us to open our eyes and see into whose hands we as a nation will drift if Democratic supremacy succeeds. The People's party, the Equal Rights party, the Woman Suffrage party, the Prohibition party and the Republican party have each a policy. Democracy has none; but she has played fast and loose with free trade so long that her defeat must be accomplished, and that can be done this year only through her life-long enemy, the Republican party.

Rev. White's Church Dedicated.

The new church at Siglerville, erected by a portion of Rev. J. W. White's congregation, was dedicated to the worship of the Lord, free of debt, on Sabbath, September 21. The day was pleasant and the attendance large. After crowding all the pews and aisles, at the morning service, many people could not obtain admission for want of room. Eight hundred dollars were subscribed, and six hundred of this amount paid in cash, to liquidate the indebtedness remaining on the church. Rev. Mr. Smith, of the Evangelical church, preached in the morning and Rev. J. J. Pearce, of the M. E. church, in the afternoon. At the close of the afternoon service the congregation rose and sung the doxology and dedicatory hymn, and the Rev. Mr. White offered the dedicatory prayer. The people went home rejoicing that they have a place of worship free of debt. The building is a very neat and substantial Gothic structure. The title of the property is made to the people of the congregation or a majority of the same without regard to their present or future name or ecclesiastical connection. The people feel profoundly that while it may be law, it is not justice, that a small minority of a congregation should possess all its property—a minority which perhaps paid little or nothing to secure the property—simply because they choose to submit to ecclesiastical control and supervision.

Death of Martha Gordon Muffly.

MUFFLY.—On the 22d day of September, at Bellefonte, Pa., Martha Gordon, wife of Joseph R. Muffly, of Philadelphia and daughter of Mrs. Mary S. and the late James Gordon, deceased, of Bellefonte, Pa.

The event announced above occurred at 2 o'clock on Monday at the residence of Mrs. Mary S. Gordon, mother of the deceased. She was a victim of consumption. Her serious illness, which confined her to her bed, began only two weeks ago. She rallied sufficiently to accompany her brother and husband from Philadelphia to this place, which she reached on Saturday, the train stopping at Lamb street for the purpose of permitting her to be taken off at that point. She was 39 years of age Her husband and two children survive. She was the sister of Messrs. Leslie, Cyrus, Theodore, James and Newton Gordon and had a large circle of acquaintances by whom she will be greatly mourned.

Relatives and friends in large numbers attended the funeral on Wednesday afternoon, 24th inst., at 4 o'clock from the residence of her mother, Mrs. Mary S. Gordon, No. 6 Curtin Street, Bellefonte Pa. Interment in the Bellefonte cemetery.

—Talk about wages! Mr. John Wabble, the double thick blower at the glass works can make a small fortune each day he works. In five days recently he made $74.04 and in six days $88.11. These are about the largest wages ever made at this factory, though they have always been large.

—The Steam Heating Company are still at work digging up the streets. They evidently intend to make it hot for Bellefonters next winter.

Death of Mr. Benjamin Schrock.

For several days past the life of Mr. Benjamin Schrock has been despaired of. Five years ago in March he was stricken with paralysis from which he never recovered. Since that time his general health has been good until lately, when disease, brought on perhaps by enforced inactivity, reduced him to death's door and at 12 o'clock on Tuesday night, September 23, he expired.

Almost daily of late we have been called upon to record the deaths of well known citizens, and Mr. Schrock was perhaps about as well known as any in the borough. He has lived in this town and in the house where his death occurred many years. He was a blacksmith by trade and, as long as he was able, carried on the business at the well known stand on Bishop street, being assisted generally by some of his sons. He was an upright industrious, useful citizen and will be mourned not only by his family and relatives, who are quite numerous, but also by the community at large. We understand he leaves a wife, four sons and three daughters. One son, William, is a resident of Sydney, Shelby county, Ohio. Deceased was 71 years of age in April last.

The funeral services were held on Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

How the Accident Occurred.

Our Loveville correspondent sends us further particulars regarding the accident which resulted in the death of Lawrence Solt. The substance of what he gives was obtained from Dr. T. C. VanTries, the physician who attended the deceased after the accident. He says: "The fall from the trestle work was caused by cars running over it, of which there were two loaded with lump ore, one failing on top of him crushing his right arm into a jelly and splintering the bone nearly to the shoulder. His left wrist was broken and wrenched out of joint and his body seriously cut and bruised in different places, also receiving internal injuries. As the only hope of saving his life, on Wednesday morning Dr. T. C. VanTries, of Baileyville, assisted by Dr. Woods, of Pine Grove, amputated his right arm at the shoulder joint, but owing to the prostrated condition of his system resulting from his extensive and complicated injuries, he failed to rally and expired about one hour after the operation.

—On the 2d page of this issue may be found an article which is a criticism of a speech made recently by Senator Wallace and which should of itself be sufficient to influence every man to vote with the Republican party. If the Protection doctrine of the Republican party can be carried out in its completness work at living wages will be provided for every man in the country. What should be done is to shut out the $600,000,000 of imports of articles which skilled workmen in America can, if encouraged, manufacture even better than the same workmen in Europe. Then our exports will exceed our imports even more than at present. It has been shown by experience that the more the manufacture of an article is encouraged by protection, the greater amount of brains is applied to its manufacture and the quality of the article becomes superior. It has also been proved that when America manufactures a better article than Europe the latter country will buy at any price and thus the markets of the world will be secured even with protection.

—Rev. R. Crittenden has spent most of the present month laboring in a new part of his field not previously entered. He reports "seven communities visited having no church or Sunday school and only an occasional sermon in one or two of them. In three of these places new Sunday schools were organized and provided with every thing needed for present use. In another community of twelve Protestant families a new school house is built on condition that no religious meeting of any kind should be held in it. Arrangements are made for these families to meet for Sunday school in a private house offered for that purpose. If the school houses should be closed against our Sunday schools, there is reason to believe that nine-tenths of them would be gathered for prayer, praise and the study of God's word, as the first Christian churches were, in private houses."

—Bellefonte's efficient undertaker Mr. Henry Harris, has recently provided himself with very elegant pedestals, or coffin rests, upon which to place elegant caskets. A rug which accompanies them is also very fine and all are in harmony. When placed in a handsome apartment amid costly furniture the effect is exceedingly pleasing.

—Grapes are large, sweet and abundant.

More About that Wedding.

The Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin, of Sept. 23, has the following paragraph concerning the wedding of Sheriff Dunkle and Miss Fortney:

Yesterday afternoon at half past two o'clock, the marriage ceremony was performed in the Hepburn House parlor. The contracting parties were Mr. Thomas J. Dunkle, Sheriff of Centre county, and Miss Lizzie M. Fortney, of Tusseyville. Mr. Miles Walker and Miss Powers, of Bellefonte, "stood up" as groomsman and bridesmaid, and the officiating clergyman was Rev. W. E. Fisher, of Centre Hall, Centre county, Pa.

On the same happy topic the Sun and Banner, of that city, makes the following concluding remarks: "The newly married couple left on an extended eastern trip. Mr. Walker and Miss Powers returned home to inform the people of Bellefonte into what trouble Centre county's protector of the peace got while sojourning in Williamsport. Mr. and Mrs. Dunkle have the good wishes of many friends in their native county as well as in Williamsport."

Our Newspapers.

According to Edwin Alden & Bro.'s (Cincinnati, O.,) American Newspaper Catalogue for 1884, there are 14,867 newspapers and magazines published in the United States and the British Provinces. Total in the United States, 14,176; in the British Provinces, 601; divided as follows: Dailies, 1,357; Tri-weeklies, 71; Semi-weeklies, 168; Sundays, 295; Weeklies, 10,095; Bi-weeklies, 39; Monthlies, 1,502; Bi-monthlies, 26; Quarterlies, 83; showing an increase over the publications of 1883 of 1,504. The greatest increase has been among the Weekly Newspapers of a political character (?) while it has been least among the class publications. The book is very handsomely gotten up and contains some 850 pages, printed on heavy book paper, elegantly bound in cloth. It will sent to any address, prepaid, on receipt of $1.50.

They Call on Mr. Blaine.

Five young ladies—Misses Allen, Ryan, Bubb and Corcoran, of Williamsport, and Miss McCormick, of Lock Haven, passed through Philadelphia on Tuesday evening on their way to Laselle Seminary in Massachussetts, and took advantage of the occasion to call on Mr. Blaine at the Continental Hotel. They were escorted by Colonel Corcoran of Williamsport and J. F. McCormick, Esq., of Lock Haven. The next President and his son received the ladies cordially and chatted with them a few minutes. Some of these young ladies are known in Bellefonte, and doubtless their visit afferded Mr. Blaine as much pleasure as any other event while he was in the Quaker city.

—The axe handle factory owned and operated by Mr. C. Poulsen, at Howard, was entirely destroyed by fire Tuesday morning, September 23. The factory had a large number of orders on hand and was in operation night and day. The fire was started by a spark from the engine. The loss was $2,000, and as there was no insurance it will fall disastrously on Mr. Poulsen, who is a very worthy young man, and had just started in business. We understand that, in view of the prosperity of the factory and the loss to the business community of Howard, a movement is on foot among the citizens to rebuild the factory at once. Business considerations as well as justifiable sympathy for Mr. Poulsen lead us to hope that this movement will be entirely successful.

—The beautiful casket in which the body of the late Mrs. Martha Gordon Muffly reposes is perhaps the most costly and elegant ever brought to Bellefonte. It is of very valuable dark wood. The textile handles, which are of silk tightly woven until as solid and smooth as marble, are fastened to the casket by four silver plates on each side. The top is of rich black velvet, and the glass plate in the lid is so arranged as to be pushed down into the lower part of the lid or be moved up, at pleasure. The inside of the casket is of rich white satin. The casket throughout is of the most elegant description and is further ornamented by a heavy silver plate on which the name of deceased is engraved.

—The tramp made his appearance again on Wednesday. This time he was a combination of a printer, business man and druggist. He related interesting tales of his newspaper experience chiefly in Canada. He was willing to talk as long as any one would listen. Ah, yes; to look at him made one sad. Quite intelligent and with an appreciation of the refinements of life, it was easy to see that he has experienced better days. But the odor of whiskey on his breath tells the secret of his changed circumstances. He is one who will not perhaps rise again to the station from whence he fell, but his life should convey its own lesson to the rising generation.

—As we passed Joseph Bros. store Monday evening of last week we were surprised at the brilliant flood of light which proceeded from it. There was quite a congregation of people in front of the store also looking in. We thought at first that we had fallen asleep and were getting an imaginary glimpse of the electrical exhibition in Philadelphia. Mr. H. Holz aroused us to consciousness when his tuneful voice informed us that it was only the electric light, nineteen lights shedding a radiance as bright as day—brighter, Mr. Holz thinks. Throughout the store, including the upstairs and basement, there are more than thirty lights, Monday evening being their first trial. Right here it is apropos to state that the electric light company have met with a success of which one year ago they did not dream. They made provision for furnishing only 800 lights but have already put in more than 1,000, which they are able to keep in operation because there is perhaps never a time when more than half of the system is in use simultaneously. They are preparing to greatly increase the capacity of the works and will always be ready to meet the demand.

Brandy are used by physicians everywhere, who rely upon them as the purest to be had. It is unsurpassed for weakly females and old people. For sale by druggists.

—One roller skater among the legion in our town is conspicuously brilliant and graceful, and that is Mr. Geo. Bible, manager of the Centre Democrat. Once we thought he excelled as an elocutionist, and then as a reporter, but these two accomplishments sink into insignificance when compared with his manipulation of the rollers. He is the poetry of motion, and we beg his pardon for having omitted to mention this fact heretofore.

—Sunday was decidedly warm.

—The September moon was quarter full on Saturday.

—The Blair county fair will be held this week.

Theodore Richards and family have removed from Philipsburg to Houtzdale.

—The cisterns are filling up and the agriculturist's bosom is almost bursting with gratitude.

—Cook Condo, of Rebersburg, has an orchard which yielded 300 bushels of first-class apples this season.

—"Wait till the clouds roll by" is not a popular song just now. People are longing for plenty of clouds and rain.

—The Presbyterian Mite Society, Friday evening, at the home of Mrs. George Bayard, was a delightful gathering.

—The Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church will meet on Friday evening at the residence of the pastor, Rev. Wm. Laurie.

—The houses and stable owned by the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company, on Lamb street, are to be removed within 30 days.

—The reunion of the Gast family in Rebersburg was attended by ninety persons, all of whom were descendents of two brothers of that name who first settled in this county.

—We observe that Gen. Beaver has again been compelled to repeat the declaration that he cannot accept the position of Commissioner of Pensions, extensive business interests preventing him.

—Some tremendous blasts are exploded where they are digging out the rocks at the site of Mr. Harris' building, and it will be well for spectators not to linger in too close proximity to the place.

—Prayers for rain were offered in the churches on Sunday, the 21st of September, and during the week they were answered. The refreshing showers were falling during church service last Sunday evening.

—Blaine advised the Republican organs to publish his Mulligan letters. They have not yet done so.—Centre Hall Reporter. Beg pardon, but they have; for proof consult the files of the News and the Republican.

—Quite a destructive fire occurred in Price & Hoops' lumber yard at Port Matilda last Wednesday night 50,000 feet of lumber being destroyed. The origin of the fire is not known We believe that there was no insurance on the lumber.

—The Prohibition party is rapidly disgusting all sensible people by attacking the only party which ever gave it any material aid. We admire the way the W. C. T. U., seeks to advance its ideas, but the Prohibition party seems to be preparing the rope to hang itself.

—A small boy with a flag in his straw hat and other evidences of lunacy entertained quite an audience on the street at noon Friday with a rambling talk, which nevertheless seemed to be quite interesting to many people. We believe he hails from the Ridges and is somewhat demented.

—The new station building at Unionville is progressing rapidly toward completion, the framework being already finished. The dimensions of the building will be 30x45 feet. Hoover, Hughes & Co. have the contract and expect to have it completed in one week from the time they began work.

—In our recent reference to the beautiful casket in which the remains of the late Mrs. Martha Gordon Muffly were placed, we erred in stating that it was of stained wood, whereas, in addition to the black velvet mountings, the casket was covered with black cloth. It is almost unnecessary to add that this elegant piece of workmanship was ordered by Bellefonte's efficient undertaker, Mr. Henry Harris, who always displays the most admirable taste and skill on such occasions.

—An attempt was made Thursday night to dig through the brick wall into Graham's shoe store. With this intention, the bricks were removed beneath one of the windows on the north side of the store. A small hole was made all the way through, which would soon have been large enough to admit the would be burglar, or burglars, but at the moment when success seemed to crown their efforts they were frightened away, probably by the appearance of the night watchman.

"Wooden Wedding" of Bucktail Post.

Renove Post (Bucktail, No. 142) of the G. A. R. had its "wooden wedding" (5th anniversary) on Sept. 24. No. 261, of Milesburg, sent the big tent (Gen. Jas. McMullen canvasman) on Monday. The tent was erected on the grounds of the railroad company. A large platform was erected inside the tent. The committee with that pleasant "Scotch Thistle" Flower ("Full many a flower is born to blush unseen and waste its sweetness on the desert air;" but not so with this Flower. He blushes and his sweetness is put to use) as chairman ably assisted by James Hutchinson formerly of Mill Hall, C. F. Unkle, "Alphabetical" Crouse, John Weaver, the "Bounding" Billow, and Henry Clay Long, worked hard, and were ably assisted in their labors by others of 142. Everything was ready on Tuesday evening for the opening of the festivities and all other exercises of Wednesday. The rain came down pretty lively about midnight on Tuesday, but long before the sun peeped over the beautiful and romantic hills surrounding Renovo, musketry echoed and reechoed, the fifers and drummers were astir, the familiar sounds of war times woke the sleepers of the little city of the mountains. The sun came up, the mist lifted from the hills, everything augured favorably a pleasant day in all respects.

The R. R. shops were closed, (in the wood repair shop, the gentlemanly superintendent Comrade Messenger gave orders that any one working after a certain hour would be shot,) all put on a holiday attire and were early in the streets. The trains arrived from the west with some comrades from St. Marys, and very many other people came from up the river to help swell the crowd. The Lock Haven train was late and the procession delayed in starting, the "old War Governor" and many comrades of 122, Lock Haven, being on board. At about 11 a. m., the march began, led by Chief Marshal Messenger. The "Month-ago" band was close behind him. Then came the G. A. R. led by Austin Curtin, S. V. C. Dept and Comrade Martin of 142, Post 122, 261 of Milesburg, Lock Haven, Comrade Hiller in command, 216 of St. Marys, 95 of Bellefonte and 142 of Renovo under command of Commander Dedier, then the Odd Fellows, of Renovo, in full regalia, led by the Noble Grand, Then followed the Sons of Temperance and a drum corps. Next came the Hose Company of Renovo, as fine looking young men as any town can boast of. They wore white shirts, (no coats) black trousers and handsome black caps, and carried all the implements used by hose companies. They were followed by the handsome steam engine, the men on which were uniformed the same as the Hose Company. The engine was beautifully trimmed and festooned with flowers and wreaths. Last, and least in size, came about 20 little boys, dressed similar to the members of the Hose Company and pulling a miniature hose carriage, about 2 feet long and 18 inches high.

The principal streets and avenues of the town were traversed by the procession, the sidewalks, yards and doorsteps being filled with men, women and children, showing their appreciation of the occasion. Ex-Gov. Curtin stood on the veranda of hotel and reviewed the procession as it passed in front on its way to the place where the tent was erected. After breaking ranks all were invited inside to partake of the "bean" soup and the invitation was generally accepted, everybody partaking of it with a relish.

About 2.30 o'clock the tent was opened for the hop and the sale of refreshments. The Month-ago band furnished the music. More than one thousand ladies and gentlemen crowded in to dance. The best of order was maintained. Warm as it was the dance lasted until 6 p. m. At 7.30 the camp fire opened, every available foot of space in the tent being occupied. After music by the band, Austin Curtin was elected chairman. After opening the meeting with a short address, he called on Comrade Martin of 142 to sing "Marching through Georgia." Then P. C. Michaels of 122 made an appropriate address. The old War Governor, A. G Curtin, being introduced, was received with cheers, clapping of hands and waiving of handkerchiefs. His address was eloquent and appropriate and was listened to with intense interest, showing the place he has in the hearts of the people and the old "vets" particularly. Comrade Travis of 142 was then called on and made one of his interesting, humorous speeches, at the close of which he presented the S. V. Dept. Commander with a beautiful "buck tail." The description of the capture of the "buck" to which the tail once belonged and winding up of the presentation came near bringing down the tent, aided as he was by a very high wind prevailing outside. Few tents under similar circumstances—a high wind without and a good deal from comrades within—could have remained in position under the pressure.

The camp was closed at 9.30. The platform was cleared, the band struck up good music and the "light fantastic" was tripped by the young ladies and gentleman until a late hour. No. 142 is a live Post, S. F. Dedier is commander and R. N. Martin is its efficient O. D. The comrades one and all are good fellows and deserve the thanks of the citizens and visiting comrades for the most excellent entertainment afforded to all. ***

The Prohibitionists in Convention.

The Prohibition county convention met Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock in the hall of the Y. M. C. A., about 15 persons being present. Organization was effected by the choice of Rev. J. M. Graham, for President, W W. Reese, Secretary, and Clevan Dinges, assistant secretary. The following nominations were made: Associate Judge, Henry Spotts, of Union township; Assembly, Wm. H. Musser, of Milesburg, and G. W. Currin, of Centre Hall.

Mrs. Reese, State lecturer of the W. C. T. U., of Ohio, was called on for a speech and responded in a vigorous and entertaining manner. She said that the W. C. T. U., which society she represents, is essentially non-political. The members are the wives and sisters of Democrats and Republicans, and it would injure the cause for which they work for some of their members to ally themselves with a third party. They must elevate public sentiment. If public sentiment were on a level with themselves there would be no occasion for their existence. Individually, however, she is a prohibitionist, and believes the cause is growing.

Hon. A. A. Barker, of Ebensburg, chairman of the Prohibition State Committee, was introduced and spoke with force and eloquence. He is one of the original abolitionists and labored with Wm. Lloyd Garrison and other such worthy and honored men. Mr. Barker is considered to be one of the most prominent advocates of prohibition in the State.

At 12 o'clock the convention adjourned until 1:45 p. m.

In the afternoon the convention completed the ticket by nominating the following: Sheriff, Thos. J. Taylor, Unionville; Prothonotary, Christian Buck, Unionville; Treasurer, W. P. Fisher; Register, J. Zeigler; Recorder, E. H. Walker; Commissioners, Joseph Rodgers, of Boggs township, and Wm. Dale, of Spring township; Auditors, Harvey Poorman and Michael Derstine.

The Y. M. C. A. State Convention.

The seventeenth annual state convention of the Young Men's Christian association of Pennsylvania will be held at Meadville, October 16th to 19th. The first reunion will be held on Thursday at 3.30 p. m., and the closing session on Sunday. Rev. A. C. Hirst, D. D., of Pittsburg, Rev. S. F. Sewell, president of the Worcester university, Ohio, are among those from abroad who are expected to be present and participate in the exercises. Five interesting conversations are to be conducted, four addresses delivered, nine papers read for discussion, and special exercises, such as Bible reading, devotional meetings and reports and presentations of special departments of work. The convention will be preceded by the conference of general secretaries, which will be held for two days. These annual gatherings are productive of great good, and the one this year is expected to be unusually so.

—The greatest satisfaction is occasioned by the result of recent experiments at the steel works and steel of admirable quality is daily produced there. The waste in manufacturing steel by Mr. Henderson's method is less than has ever been attained before by any process, it being, we believe, reduced to 4 per cent. Mr. Dodge, a gentleman who we believe has had extensive experience in such affairs, is now giving his attention to the affairs at the works. As this factory is designed, we understand, only as a sort of experimental station, the work there will probably be continued only until the gentlemen who own the works are entirely satisfied of complete success.

—The proposed establishment of the American Rapid Telegraph Company in this place has been abandoned. It is supposed that the Western Union has purchased all the stock Therefore, Will Speer and G. W. D, X. Kennedy will look elsewhere for business engagements. The Democrat is requested to give this notice the same publicity that it gave the fact of the proposed establishment of the company.

Congressional.

The conference of the Democratic delegates of the Twentieth Congressional District met in the judges chamber in the Court House in Lock Haven at 2 o'clock on Thursday afternoon. The candidates for the nomination were as follows: Centre and Clearfield, A. G. Curtin; Union A. H. Dill; Mifflin, A. Reed; Elk, J. K. P. Hall; Clinton, S. R. Peale. The delegates attending the conference were as follows. Centre, Frank E. Bible, L. T. Munson, Dr. J. O. Loraine; Clearfield, Walter Barrett, S. T. Brockbank, G. W. Dickey; Union, E. M. Beale, Jno. C. Smith; Mifflin, S. B, Weber, I. S. Rakerd, A. R. W. Thompson; Elk, G. G. Messenger, Andrew Kaul, G. C. Brandon; Clinton, Paul S. Merrill, J. R. Gallaher' John Morris.

The conferees met on Thursday afternoon, but a misunderstanding occurred which caused the conferees from all except Centre and Clearfield counties to retire from the conference We believe that the conferees from the two counties named insisted on the meeting being open to the public while their twelve brother conferees wanted it secret. The disputed question has been settled (in what way we are not informed) and they met all together next morning, eight ballots being taken. Curtin received seven votes, the extra ballot being from a Union county delegate.

The Congressional Conference at Lock Haven took 24 ballots on Friday, Hon. A. G. Curtin receiving 8 votes, one from Union county and one from Mifflin county coming to his assistance. The conference then adjourned to meet at St. Marys yesterday.

A dispatch to the Williamsport Sun and Banner, after relating the proceedings of the Congressional Conference in Lock Haven, makes the following comments on the situation:

Governor Curtin is the undoubted and unquestioned choice of an overwhelming majority of the Democrats of the district, as well as of all others. The Democrats of Centre and Clearfield are unanimous for him, and the same is substantially true of each of the other counties, after their special "home" candidate is out of the way. Under these circumstances there is much indignation expressed against Messrs. Dill, Reed, Peale and Hall, who have no following or support in any county except that in which each respectively resides, and it is now very doubtful whether either could be elected if nominated by a combination amongst them. The three largest counties of the district were so humiliated and outraged by a Senatorial conference two years ago, that their people have lost all respect for traveling and adjourning conferences, and they will probably insist on running ex-Governor Curtin upon their own motion, and if they do they will elect him overwhelmingly. The trick of four gentlemen carrying their respective counties on the ground of courtesy and compliment, and then combining to cheat the people out of the nominee they desire, is too shallow to be successful, and will be indignantly spurned.

The contest against Governor Curtin is made by the land-grabbing and labor-oppressing corporations he so ably and eloquently opposed in Congress. But in defiance of their cunning and their money, the monopolies cannot win in this contest. The renomination of Governor Curtin would add at least 2,000 votes to Governor Cleveland's column in this district alone, and the whole labor organization of the State is similarly interested.

Run away from Home.

Yesterday a resident of Johnstown, a hotel keeper, arrived in the city in quest of his son, who left home on Monday of last week, and has not been heard of since. The boy is aged 14 years and is large for his age. When he left home he wore a brown slouch hat, dark pants and coat, brown vest, low buttoned shoes. Chief Kinch and the boy's father, who does not wish his name to be made public, went about the city yesterday afternoon but could find no trace of the boy. Information concerning him should be communicated to Chief Kinch.—Altoona Times.

—Very little rain has fallen in Centre county for a long time and the dearth in some localities is quite alarming. Cisterns and other water supplies are exhausted of their contents and people are compelled in some cases, notably in the vicinity of State College, to haul water in barrels a long distance. Of course, the citizens of Bellefonte are never reduced to any extremities for this very necessary article and scarcely know how to sympathize with those who are less fortunate.

—An Altoona exchange informs us that Rev. J. A. Woodcock and family have removed from Bedford to this place, where they intend to make their future home. If this is so, the Rev. J. A. and family will be warmly welcomed.

—Indiana, in Indiana county, had an execution on Tuesday, Sept. 23, Joseph Sarver being the victim.

Early Revival of Trade Predicted.

The Iron Age anticipates an early revival of activity in the iron business. The decline in prices has gone on for more that three years, and has led to a restriction in production which must naturally be followed by a corresponding advance in prices and increase in output. The reduction in the make of pig iron during the last three months has been remarkable. Between June 1st and September 1st eighteen anthracite and fifteen bituminous furnaces only went out of blast, with a weekly capacity of 10,243 tons. Out of a total of 227 anthracite furnaces only eighty-eight, and out of 225 bituminous only eighty-three are now in operation, or 171 out of a total of 452. When it is remembered that the furnaces connected with the steel rail mills are included in this total it will be seen that the number supplying the general trade of the country is down to a very low figure, and in view of the great reluctance on the part of owners to go out of blast, on account of the heavy incidental losses, it is obvious that present prices must be below the actual cost of production in the furnaces driven out of blast; and it is probable that some of those still running are doing so notwithstanding some loss, in the hope of an early improvement. It would seem probable, therefore, that iron prices will go no lower, and that the Iron Age is correct in believing that the facts indicate "a return of abundant activity" to this important trade. Altoona Tribune

—There is a turkey hen at Unionville that excels all the fancy fowls of any varieties, call them Plymouth Rocks, Brahmas or whatever name you please. Her owner is Irv. Calhoun. During last Spring 25 eggs were placed under her and in due time the surprising result followed of twenty-six young turkeys and a chicken. The brave and enterprising turkey hen has raised each one of these young ones and they are now strong and well, not a death having occurred among this novel and interesting family, and they are now almost as large as their mother. At first the old turkey tried to chase the chick away, but as it would not leave she is now reconciled and the chick follows the flock around in all their wanderings. Quite frequently, this odd member of the family has to travel pretty fast, as turkeys usually make better speed than chickens.

—The audience at the temperance mass meeting on Thursday evening did not number over fifty persons The speakers were Hon. J. A. Barker, of Ebensburg, and Mrs. Reese. The former was so severe on the Republican party as to awaken the suspicion that the only object of these Prohibitionists is to attract votes from Blaine to St. John and thus aid Cleveland. In this he will fail ignominiously in Bellefonte. If the Republicans had nominated an ordinary man this year we might listen to these Prohibitionists with patience, but the nominee happens to be the most remarkable man of the present age. To defeat him would be a crime, of which the American people will not be guilty.

—The trial of John Kehoe, at Lock Haven, for killing Uriah Hammersly, his father in-law, on the 29th of May last, resulted at a late hour Saturday night in a verdict of murder in the second degree. The trial has excited great interest, and the verdict is received with the utmost satisfaction. The murder was the result of a long standing family quarrel. On the day of the quarrel Kehoe denounced the whole Hammersly family in the most bitter language. Hammersly seized a piece of wood to strike Kehoe, but was prevented by his housekeeper. Subsequently the quarrel was resumed and Hammersly struck at Kehoe with a piece of wood. Kehoe then drew a revolver and fired four times killing the old man instantly.

—It is said that 200 cells of the State Reformatory at Huntingdon have been finished, and that the chapel and guard houses are half done, and will be fully built before the next meeting of the Legislature, to which application will be made for an appropriation for the construction of workshops and the outside wall. The object of the institution is the instruction and reclamation of young offenders at their first delinquency, particular attention being given to tuition in handicraft. Ex-Governor Hoyt was instrumental in having the object changed from a penitentiary to a reformatory.

—Nothing could possibly be more appropriate or beautiful than the anthem rendered by the choir of the Episcopal church on Sunday evening, and Miss Valentine's superb voice was never before used with more pleasing effect.
